PREFACE.

THIS book has been prepared under the conviction that too much time is generally spent upon the study of Latin Grammar. It is intended to be learned by a good class under good instruction — where this is made the chief study — in three months, or, if not so much time daily can be afforded, in six; and, if well learned, it will prepare the student for any college entrance-examination in this subject.

A familiar and accurate knowledge of forms is first of all necessary, and is here fully provided for, by noting in detail and progressively the essential parts of the etymology to be learned. To learn the grammar in bulk, as is still sometimes attempted, we consider one of the most unhappy departures from the true method of a classical education.

Some special features of this book may require to be pointed out.

First, we have desired that all the instruction given should be founded on a strictly scientific etymology. With this view, we begin with the fundamental distinction of Root and Stem, — the basis of all true philology, — training the learner's eye from the start to recognize the radical forms of the language. Again, in indicating the quantity of syllables, we have marked all vowels naturally long, made so by laws of inflection ("vowel-increase"), or by certain combinations, as nf and ns. With the same view, we have called special attention to the development of the verb-stem from the root, and have given unusually full instruction on the principles of derivation and composition of words. The Lessons in this portion are not intended to indicate how much is to be learned at once, but only to divide subjects, and they may of course be subdivided at pleasure.

The etymological part is accompanied with exercises upon each group of forms in detail. To avoid lengthening the exercises in mutilated extracts, the syntax is not so presented. Our view is that the learning of rules of syntax is useless except as explanatory of cases which the learner meets with in actual practice. A selection of passages is therefore given which affords one or more examples of all the syntactical principles considered necessary to start with in reading a Latin author, except two or three. A list of the sections of grammar containing all the necessary principles is given, — something less than a quarter part in bulk of the entire Syntax, — and this list is referred to by figures in each case. It is expected that the teacher will make the occurrence of the example the occasion to teach (or to require the pupil to learn) the general doctrine of the subject, so that after finishing these lessons he may have a body of syntax sufficient to begin authors. The details of syntax are of course to be learned in the course of reading and by exercises in composition, for which a book is now in preparation as a sequel to this.

In the selection of examples we have rigidly avoided the artificial school-text-book Latin, which, with illusive simplicity and ease, only serves to "push forward" the difficulties which will, at any rate, meet the student on the threshold of his real reading. While we have sought to make the exercises easy and progressive, we have given (with very rare exceptions) only sentences from classical authors. The more difficult Selections which follow are, it is hoped, sufficiently annotated to serve the uses of an introductory book. They may, however, be taken at sight, if preferred, with oral exposition from the teacher; and, if well learned, ought to prepare the pupil to take up any ordinary Latin prose without difficulty.

Teachers will find the suggestions on reading at sight new, and it is hoped will constantly practise it with their assistance. They will be surprised at the result. We are persuaded that no thorough classical training, nor the full advantage of such training as we have, can be generally secured in this country until this practice becomes common.

With the aid of the Supplement (taken from the authors' Latin Grammar) this book may be easily used in connection with any other grammar, though, of course, more conveniently with that to which it is especially adapted.

INTRODUCTION.

I. — PRONUNCIATION.

THERE is at present a strong tendency, among the best scholars, to pronounce Latin (as well as Greek) phonetically, giving to each letter of the alphabet the one sound which by the best authority most nearly represents that given it by Romans of the classic ages. These sounds are given in the grammar (§ 2, 1). Observing the rules of accent, it is only necessary to give each letter its proper enunciation. This is by far the easiest and simplest way. It may be acquired by any intelligent person, with a good ear, in ten minutes; though practice will be required to make the reading fluent and agreeable.

Many persons, however, prefer to retain the English Method, so called; that is, the practice which has prevailed, with some variation, in England and among ourselves, for the last two or three centuries. In general, the following direction is sufficient. Read a Latin sentence just as if the words were English, observing the rules of accent (§ 4), and bearing in mind that there are no silent letters. This single precept would probably give a pronunciation as correct and about as uniform as can be had from any number of arbitrary rules. A few special points necessary to be observed are given in the grammar (§ 2, 2). To read Latin easily and well is an accomplishment which must be taught orally, and acquired by practice. The directions which follow, accordingly, are not intended to be studied by the pupil, but to serve as a guide in cases of doubt.

1. The chief difference between Latin (pronounced as in English) and English is that the former has no silent letters. Every vowel makes a syllable; except in the combinations ae, oe, au, eu, ei, ui, and u before a vowel, and these are separate when marked with the diæresis. Thus di-es, ma-re, pau-pe-ri-ē-i.

2. The vowels always have their English sounds : —

a as in mane or man.	ae	} as e.
e ,, be or bed.	oe
i ,, find or fin.	au as aw in awe.
o ,, note or not.	eu as ew in hew.
u ,, tune or tun.	ei	} as i.
y as i.	ui

3. An unaccented i before another vowel is in almost all cases changed into its semivowel y. In the same cases as in English this y blends with the preceding consonant, making the sound of sh, as in Maia (Ma-ya), Pompēius (Pom-pé-yus), Harpyia (Harpí-ya), socius (so-shus), vitium (vish-yum), Asia (A-shya).

Except such words as Fabius (Fá-be-us), where the y is less distinct; so Sextius, flectier, where it is hardly distinguishable at all. Practice must be the guide in these cases.

4. Of the two sounds of the vowels above given the long sound (so called) ends a syllable, the short ("stopped") sound is followed by a consonant: as pa-ter (pay-ter), mag-nus (mag-nus), de-dit (de-dit), reg-num (reg-num). But a at the end of an unaccented syllable has an obscure sound like English er in dancer: stella (stellar).

5. The combinations quad and quart are pronounced as in English (quart) ; arr is pronounced as in Harry; es at the end of plural words has the long sound: pes (pease), pares (pay-reze), nos (noce) ; post (with its compounds) is pronounced like the same word in English.

6. The consonants are pronounced as in English. Thus, c is soft (s) before e, i, y, ae, oe, eu. Elsewhere it is hard (k), and it blends with u in nearly the same cases as in English, as socius, conscius (pronounced shus) ; ch is always k, as in charta, máchina; g is soft (j) and hard in the same situations respectively as c.

7. S is usually hard (sharp as in saw). It is sonant (soft, z) at the end of a word, after e, ae, au, n, r, as pes, audes, mons, pars, trans (even in composition). A few other words have also sonant s (z), as causa, rosa.

8. X has the sound of z at the beginning and of ks at the end of syllables : as, Xerx-es, pax.

Since many of the sounds depend upon the open or close syllables, the following rules for the division of syllables may be observed, which are, however, the regular rules in English.

9. A vowel not accented and a penultimate vowel in any case complete their syllables without a following single consonant or mute with l or r, as socius, ratio. (This rule applies when the number of syllables is reduced by rule 3 above.)

10. A vowel accented, not penultimate, requires the following single consonant, or divides the combination of mute with l or r.

11. But a following i and e attract a consonant rather than an accented ā, ē, ō, preceding; as me-di-á-tor, haé-re-o pá-tri-us. — u, on the other hand, repels a following consonant, as lú-ci-dus, dú-ri-us.

12. A single consonant after any accented vowel except the penultimate is joined with that vowel. A mute and liquid in this position are separated. In other cases a single consonant or a mute and liquid belong to the following vowel.

13. Two consonants (except a mute and l or r as above) are divided : as, mag-nus, cor-pus.

14. Of three or more consonants, the last (or a mute with l or r as above) is given to the following syllable.

15. A compound word is divided between the parts if the first ends in a consonant, otherwise it follows the rules for single words : as, prod-est, circum-esse, prae-sto, ego-met, pro-sum.

2. — ELEMENTARY DEFINITIONS.

1. GRAMMAR treats of the different forms of words (ETY-MOLOGY), and the mode of connecting them in speech (SYNTAX).

2. Words are either Nouns, Adjectives, Pronouns, Verbs, Participles, Adverbs, Prepositions, Conjunctions, or Interjections. These are called PARTS OF SPEECH.

3. Words like Cæsar, consul, temple, virtue, which are names of persons, things, or ideas, are called NOUNS.

4. Words like brave, loud, strong, which express qualities, are called ADJECTIVES.

5. Words which indicate any person or thing, without either naming or describing, are called PRONOUNS. These include PERSONAL, as I, thou, we, he, they; and ADJECTIVE, as these, those (Demonstrative), my, your (Possessive), who, which (Relative or Interrogative).

6. Words like build, fight, stand, be, suffer, which express actions or conditions, are called VERBS.

7. Words like conquering, going, gone, beaten, which describe by means of actions or conditions, are called PARTICIPLES.

8. Words like nobly, well, very, here, now, to-day, which define an action or quality in manner, place, time, or the like, are called ADVERBS.

9. Words like for, with, by, against, which show the relation between a noun and other words in the sentence, are called PREPOSITIONS.

10. Words like and, or, if, but, then, which connect words or sentences together, are called CONJUNCTIONS.

11. Some words as where, while, till, nevertheless, both define as adverbs and connect as conjunctions. These are called ADVERBIAL CONJUNCTIONS.

12. Words like ah ! ho ! alas ! are mere exclamations, and are not strictly parts of speech, but are called INTERJECTIONS.

METHOD.

Lesson 1.

The Root and Stem.

READ carefully § 5, 1 and 2, of the Grammar.*

1. Distinguish the Root and the Stem, together with their meanings (as in § 5), of the following :—

vōx, a voice; vōcis, of a voice.
vŏcāmus, we call; vŏcātis, you call; vŏcāvī, I have called.
vŏcātiōnis, of a calling; vŏcātiōnī, to a calling.
vōcālis, belonging to a voice; vōcŭla, a feeble voice.

2. Determine, by comparison with each other and with the preceding, the root of the following : — ămor, love; ămāmus, we love; ămātor, lover; ămāvī, I have loved; ămat, he loves; ămānt, they love.

Let the teacher point out the stems of these words, and the meaning of the terminations.

3. Determine the root and stem of the following words : — fert, he bears; est, he is (§ 5, 2. c).

rĕgit, he rules (§ 5, 2. c³); rectus, straight (ruled); rēx, king (§ 1, 3. f²); rēgis, of a king; rēgŭla, a rule; regnum, royal power; dīrigit, he directs; arrectus, roused.
dux, leader; dūcit, he leads; dūxērunt, they led; dŭci, to a leader; redŭces (plur.), brought back.
frăgĭlis, frail; frangit, he breaks; fractus, broken; fractūra, breakage; frăgor, crash; frēgit, he broke.
cădit, he falls; cĕcĭdit, he fell; cāsus, chance; accĭdit, it happens.

For the change of vowels in the foregoing, see § 1, 3. a, b.
For the change of consonants, compare § 1, 3. f.

N. B. In the examples hereafter given, only the long vowels will, in general, be marked. Those not marked, whether or not long by position (§ 3, 2. d), are to be considered short by nature.

Lesson 2.

Gender and Declension.

1. LEARN § 6, 1, with a and c; 2, with c; 3; § 7, and § 8, 1, with a; 2. a, b, c.

Questions on the above.

1. What is Natural Gender? 2. What is Grammatical Gender? 3. What names are masculine? 4. What feminine? 5. What forms of expression are neuter? 6. What is Common Gender?

7. Repeat the names of Cases in their usual order. 8. Define the use of each. 9. How many Declensions of nouns are there? 10. How distinguished? 11. Give the genitive ending of each. 12. What is the rule for finding the Stem?

2. Notice that Latin has six cases with a relic of a seventh, where English has only three. Consequently, many relations are expressed by case alone, which in English require to be translated by means of prepositions. In translating from Latin into English, the following observations will be found useful : —

a. The Genitive may usually be translated by the Possessive, or by the preposition OF, and is usually connected with a Noun or Adjective : as, timor belli, fear of war; avidus laudis, greedy of glory.

b. The Dative is usually connected with a Verb or Adjective, and may be translated TO or FOR. It often, however, corresponds to the English Objective : as, cārus amīcīs, dear to friends; nocet inimīcīs, he harms his enemies.

c. The Accusative is regularly connected with a Verb or Preposition, and is translated most commonly by the Objective.

d. The Vocative is translated by the simple Nominative.

e. The Ablative is used with Verbs and Prepositions, and may oftenest be translated BY, WITH (means or instrument), AT (time and place), FROM, OF (cause and separation); with prepositions, by the Objective : as, occīsus ferrō, slain with the sword; dīs satus, sprung from the gods; tertiā hōrā, at the third hour.

f. The Locative is translated ON, AT, IN (time or place) : as, humī, on the ground; vesperī, at evening.

The meanings of the cases are so various that the context must very often determine the particular one. (See § 50, 3. N.)

Lesson 3.

First Declension of Nouns.

1. LEARN § 9, with 1, and 2. c, e.

Decline stella, giving the name and meaning of all the Cases.
In like manner decline the following : —

porta (F.), gate.	cōpiae (F. plur.), forces.
pila (F.), ball.	patria (F.), native land.
silva (F.), forest.	Rōma (F.), Rome.
nauta (M.), sailor.	terra (F.), earth.
dea (F.), goddess (2. e).	Athēnae (F. pl.), Athens.
fīlia (F.), daughter.	via (F.), way.

What is the stem of culpam (fault) ? of rosīs (rose) ? of hastæ (spear) ? In what case is each ?

What is the ablative singular of hasta, and how does it differ from the nominative ? what is the genitive plural ? dative plural ? accusative singular ? What is the ablative plural of fīlia ?

What is the locative form of Rōma ? of Athēnæ ? What do these forms mean ?

Learn 3, and decline comētēs, daphnē, Aenēas.

2. Describe the following forms ; that is, give their gender, number, and possible cases, with the meanings : —

1. portam; 2. portā; 3. pilīs; 4. cōpiās; 5. Rōmae; 6. fīliābus; 7. Athēnīs; 8. nautās; 9. deārum; 10. Rōmā; 11. hastārum; 12. cōpiīs; 13. daphnēs; 14. comētēn; 15. silvā.

NOTE. — Most forms of nouns or adjectives which the pupil meets in practice are oblique cases, of which he must find the nominative and the declension. Since both of these are determined by the stem, it is the simplest way to find the stem first, and then find the nominative (which is in fact a derived form) from that. As the nominative in most nouns of the first declension is the same as the stem, it is not important in that declension ; but the advantage of the principle will be seen hereafter.

In the study of inflections, it is well that the learner should accustom himself to write out the forms in full; and that this should be made, with the aid of the blackboard, a constant practice in the class-room.

Lesson 4.

Second Declension of Nouns.

1. LEARN § 10, with 1 and 2.

Decline the following, giving the names and meanings of the cases : puer, liber, servus, dōnum.

Notice that these are all declined alike, except in the nom. and voc. singular, and the nom. acc. and voc. plural ; and that in the neuter plural all these cases end in ă, as in all neuter nouns in Latin.

What is the stem of each ?

Form the nominative from the following stems : —

taurŏ- (M.), bull; generŏ- (M.), son-in-law; aprŏ- (M.), boar; humerŏ- (M.), shoulder; regnŏ- (N.), kingdom.

2. Learn subsection 3. a, b (including the lists), and 4. a, b, c, f.

Decline (first giving the stem) the following : — ager (M.), field (6).	fīlius (M.), son (4. b).

bellum (N.), war.	deus (M.), a god (4. f).
oppidum (N.), town.	magister (M.), master.
humus (F.), ground.	perīculum (N.), danger.
equus (M.), horse.	Corinthus (F.), Corinth.
vir (M.), man (5. a).	Gabiī (M. plur.), Gabii.

What is the stem of capris? in what case or cases can it be? of generis? what is the nom. singular? accusative? nom. plural? dative? genitive, of each of these nouns?

What is the stem of regnum? What is the genitive singular? plural? the dative plural?

What is the locative form and its meaning of Corinthus? of Tarentum? of Gabiī? of bellum? of humus? of vesper?

What is the vocative of Marcus? of Tullius? of puer?

Decline (7. d) lotŏs, organŏn, Ulixes.

3. Describe (as before) the following : —

1. virī; 2. taurōrum; 3. deī; 4. equō; 5. caprum; 6. deī (dī); 7. bellōrum; 8. humī; 9. ventō; 10. dīs; 11. virīs; 12. deōs, 13. Tarentī; 14. Gabiīs; 15. fīliīs; 16. magistrōrum; 17. bella; 18. fīlī; 19. vesperī (5, a); 20. perīculīs.

Lesson 5.

Adjectives of the First and Second Declensions.

1. LEARN § 16, with 1 (the teacher explaining the Note), and a.

Decline (each gender by itself) the following, first giving the masculine and feminine stems of each: cārus, miser, āter.

Observe that the declension of Adjectives of this form is precisely the same with that of the corresponding nouns, servus, puer, liber; stella, dōnum.

Decline the above by cases (all genders at once).

Decline (in either or both methods) the following, giving first their masculine stem: — bonus, good.	sacer, sacred.	meus, my (voc. mī).

magnus, great.	longus, long.	nōster, our.
parvus, small.	grātus, pleasing.	multī (plur.), many.
līber, free.	validus, strong.	paucī (plur.), few.

2. Learn § 47, and read Remark.

Decline together the following, making the Adjective agree with the Noun in gender, number, and case: — vir bonus;	hasta valida;

taurus niger;	bellum longum.

Observe that in Latin a descriptive Adjective generally comes after the noun, not before it as in English.

3. Learn the list, with significations, in 1, b; and decline the examples.

Observe that these, except alius, differ from the regular declension only in the genitive and dative singular. The peculiar forms belong properly to Pronouns, with which these words are allied also in meaning. Learn also the declension of duo (page 42), and decline together the following: — ūnus vir;	ulla porta;	sōlus fīlius;

altera fīlia;	duae hastae;	aliud bellum;
uter equus?	alia via;	ager utervīs.

Notice that utervīs is compounded of uter and vīs, which [of the two] you will; and that the first part only is declined.

4. Many adjectives in the singular, and most adjectives in the plural, may be used as Nouns, the masculine meaning men, the feminine women, and the neuter things (§ 47, 3, 4) : thus, līber, a free man.	bonī, the good.

amīcus, a friend.	Latīnī, the Latins.
Rōmānus, a Roman.	Sabīnae, the Sabine women.

5. Learn § 46, with the examples; and translate the following phrases : —

Homērus poēta; Rōma patria nostra; Gabii oppidum.

Notice that the added noun (in apposition) does not express any relation such as is mentioned in Lesson 3, but is only another way of describing the same thing.

6. Describe (as before) the following : —

.1. fīliō cārō; 2. dōnīs sacrīs; 3. stellās lūcidās; 4. ūnīus librī; 5. nullīs fīliābus; 6. alterī virō; 7. alīus portae; 8. sacrīs deābus; 9. mī cāre fīlī; 10. aliud regnum; 11. taurīs validis; 12. urbānum vulgus; 13. tōtum pelagus; 14. duōbus virīs.

Learn the meaning of the following particles : — et, and; sed, but; nōn, not; etiam, even.

Translate into English.

1. Terrae (Less. 3, 2. a) filius.   2. Pericula belli. 3. Porta oppidi Tarenti.   4. Marci pueri magister. 5. Marce Tulli.   6. Somnia fabularum.   7. Gaius Marius inimicus bonorum.   8. Sthenelus non auriga piger.   9. Mora magnum irae [1] remedium.

[1] The genitive is here to be translated for (see last paragraph of Lesson 2).

Write in Latin.

1. Alexander the Great, son of Philip.   2. Italy, the native land of the Latins.   3. Gifts of the good, pleasing to (Less. 2, 2. b) the gods.   4. Romans (acc.), sons of free men.   5. Dear to one, pleasing to many.   6. A great abundance of gold and silver.

Lesson 6.

Simple Sentence : 1. Subject and Predicate.

LEARN § 45, 1 and 2.

1. Every real sentence must contain at least a Subject and a Verb. The Subject of a verb is regularly in the Nominative case (§ 49, 2): as, > equus currit, the horse runs.

> rēgīna sedet, the queen sits.

NOTE. — In certain constructions, a verb is put in the infinitive mood, in which case its subject becomes the Accusative (§ 52, 4, b).

2. In Latin, the subject may be a personal pronoun contained in the termination of the verb itself: as, aro, I plough (am ploughing); sedēmus, we sit; curritis, you run.

NOTE. — This is true, in general, only when the verb is of the first or second person. With the third person, a definite subject must be expressed, unless implied in what goes before or follows.

3. Learn the following forms of the verb esse, to be: —

PRESENT. sum, I am.	sumus, we are.

es, thou art (you are).	estis, you are.
est, he (she, it) is.	sunt, they are.

IMPERFECT.

eram, I was.	erāmus, we were.
erās, thou wast.	erātis, you were.
erat, he (she, it) was.	erānt, they were.

Upon comparing these examples, the learner will notice that the terminations are alike for each person : thus,

SINGULAR 1. - m	PLURAL 1. - mus
2. - s	2. - tis
3. - t	3. - nt

These terminations were originally personal pronouns, and still retain their force as such. They run, with some slight changes, through all verbal forms which have persons.

Notice that the plural of courtesy, used in addressing a single person, is not found in Latin. Hence you are corresponds both with es when one person is addressed, and with estis when more than one.

NOTE. — The verb esse belongs to no regular conjugation, but its inflection is older than that of the regular verbs ; just as in English love, loved is the regular, but know, knew the older form.

4. The verb esse has two meanings, which require different constructions (see § 45, 2. b). When it means to exist, it may make a sentence either alone, or with only a subject-nominative : as, > est lūna, there is a moon.

But it is also used, like the English to be, as a mere copula (link) between a subject and a predicate, which are then in the same case (§ 46, 1. 2) : as,

> magister es, you are master.
> lūna est lūcida, the moon is bright.

NOTE. — The predicate and copula may, however, both be contained in a Latin verb : as, > agricola arat, the farmer is ploughing.

> portae patēnt, the gates are open.

Translate into English.

1. Puerī sumus. 2. Stellae lucidae erant. 3. Laetī non erāmus. 4. Virī bonī sunt.[1] 5. Patria nostra non est Rōma. 6. Servus perpetuus mercenārius est. 7. Mnesarchus et Dardanus magistrī erant (§ 49, 1) Athēnis. 8. Saepe est etiam sub palliolō sordidō sapientia. 9. Nullum magnum ingenium sine mixtūrā dēmentiae est. 10. Magnōrum saevitia bellum est.

[1] This sentence may be translated they (some persons previously referred to, and implied in the termination) are good men ; or, the men are good ; also (considering sunt as a substantive verb), there are good men. In the first case, boni and viri are both predicate ; in the second, viri is subject and boni predicate ; in the third, both are in the subject.

1. Æneas was a good son. 2. We are free [men], not slaves. 3. The early Romans were farmers. 4. Rome was the native city (fatherland) of Marcus Tullius. 5. Delay is a cure for anger.

N. B. In writing a Latin sentence, usually put the verb at the end. Words in brackets are not to be translated.

Lesson 7.

Simple Sentence: 2. Object-Accusative.

Learn § 52, and 1.

1. The action of many verbs (called Transitive verbs) passes over upon an object, which must be expressed to complete the sense. This object is in Latin put in the Accusative: as, vocat filium, he calls (his) son ; vidēmus stellās, we see the stars.

Note. — a. With certain verbs, the genitive, dative, or ablative may be used as an object-case, where the corresponding English verbs require the objective.

b. Many verbs transitive in Latin are translated in English by a verb requiring a preposition (intransitive): as, pecūniam postulo, I ask for (demand) money ; petit aprum, he aims at the boar.

2. Learn the following verb-forms of the First and Second conjugations: —

voco, I call.	vocāmus, we call.
vocās, you call (thou callest).	vocātis, you call.
vocat, he (she, it) calls.	vocānt, they call.

II.

video, I see.	vidēmus, we see.
vidēs, you see (thou seest).	vidētis, you see.
videt, he (she, it) sees.	vidēnt, they see.

Upon comparing these forms, the learner will notice that the first has ā and the second ē before the terminations. These vowels belong to the stem of the verb (see Lesson 1), and are characteristic of two different conjugations called the first and second. In the first person singular, voca-o has been contracted into voco.

Like voco inflect the following : — amo, love.	do, give.	laudo, praise.

aro, plough.	juvo, help.	pugno, fight.

Like video inflect the following : —

doceo, teach.	noceo, injure.	timeo, fear.
habeo, have.	sedeo, sit.	valeo, be strong.

Lesson 8.

Simple Sentence : 3. Special Forms.

1. Questions. — Learn § 45, 1, with a, b, c, d; and compare § 71.

a. A Question of simple fact, requiring the answer yes or no, is formed in Latin by adding the syllable -ne (enclitic) to the emphatic word : as, eratne Caesaris amīcus ? was he (in fact) Cæsar's friend.

tūne erās Caesaris amīcus ? were YOU a friend of Cæsar ?

NOTE. — Sometimes the interrogative particle is omitted, when no sign of a question appears except in the punctuation (§ 71, 1, R).

b. A Question asking of some circumstance about the fact is formed by prefixing to the sentence an interrogative word. Such words are quis? who? ubi? where? quando? when? quārē? why? quōmodō? how? quālis? of what sort? quantus? how great?

NOTE. — A Question of the latter form becomes an exclamation by omitting the mark of interrogation, or (in speech) by changing the inflection of the voice.

c. When the syllable -ne is added to a negative word, — as nonne, — an affirmative answer is expected.

[For other interrogative forms, see § 71, 1, 2.]

2. Conjunctions. — a. Two simple independent sentences are often connected by Conjunctions, and make coördinate clauses (§ 45, 5. c) in the same sentence. Such conjunctions are — et, and; sed, but; at, but yet; aut, vel, or; nec (neque), nor = and not; atque (sometimes ac before a consonant), and besides; -que (enclitic) and.

b. Of these the following are often repeated in the different parts of the sentence, for the sake of distinction or emphasis : — et or -que, both . . . and; aut (vel), either . . . or; nec or neque, neither . . . nor. [See § 43, 2. a.]

c. It is very common, in sentences thus made up of two or more members, to express in one part what must be understood in the rest (ellipsis) : as,

C. Gracchus amīcus plēbis erat, Scīpiōnēs inimīcī [plēbis erant], Caius Gracchus was a friend of the commons, the Scipios [were their] enemies.

Lesson 9.

Third Declension of Nouns.

1. LEARN § 11, i. with 1, 2 ; ii. iii. with 1, 2, 3.

The Third Declension includes all nouns having stems ending in a consonant (" consonant-stems "), and all those whose stem ends in i ("i- stems "). The consonant-stems are simplest, as the case-endings are added to the stem, and never confounded with it: hence they have one more syllable in the genitive, &c., than in the nominative. [Except pater, māter, frāter, accipiter, which are syncopated : patris for patĕris, etc.]

2. Decline the following Mute-stems (iii.) : —

ops, ŏpis (F.), help.	rēx, rēgis (M.), king.
prĭnceps, ĭpis (M.), chief.	rādīx, īcis (F.), root.
custōs, ōdis (M.), guard.	apex, ĭcis (M.), peak.
lapis, ĭdis (M.), stone.	caput, ĭtis (N.), head.
mīles, ĭtis (M.), soldier.	cor, cordis (N.), heart.
seges, ĕtis (F.), crop.	poēma, ătis (N.), poem.

Find the stem and nominative of the following : —

1. opēs; 2. forcipis; 3. pede; 4. lēgibus; 5. pācem; 6. militum; 7. incūdis; 8. corda; 9. poēma (acc.); 10. praesidem; 11. dŭcēs; 12. vādis; 13. quiēte; 14. parietum; 15. virtūtibus; 16. mercēdis; 17. capite, 18. apices; 19. lapide; 20. segete; 21. hiemis; 22. palūdibus; 23. equitēs; 24. laudī

3. Decline the following Liquid-stems (ii.) : —

consul, ŭlis (M.), consul.	sanguis, ĭnis (M.), blood.
nōmen, ĭnis (N.), name.	caro, carnis (F.), flesh (iii. 4).
leō, ōnis (M.), lion.	senex, senis (M.), old man.
virgo, ĭnis (F.), maiden.	mel, mellis (N.), honey (ii. e).
legiō, ōnis (F.), legion.	homo, ĭnis (M.), man.

Find the stem and nominative of the following : —

1. hominum; 2. ordines; 3. virginĭbus; 4. sēmina; 5. delphīnī; 6. Platōnis; 7. cornicines; 8. sanguinem; 9. senĭbus.

Notice that sanguis and senex have two stems.

4. Decline the following original r- stems : —

pater, tris (M.), father.	nectar, ăris (N.), nectar.
mulier, ĕris (F.), woman.	fulgur, ŭris (N.), thunderbolt.
anser, ĕris (M.), goose.	rhētor, ŏris (M.), rhetorician.
crātēr, ēris (M.), bowl.	āēr, āĕris (M.), air.

NOTE. — Nouns with these terminations have an original r. In almost all other r- stems, the r takes the place of an original s, which is retained in the nominative and the other cases which are like it. In crātēr and āēr, observe the Greek forms of the accusative singular (a), and the nominative and accusative plural (ĕs, ăs).

5. Decline the following, in which the stem has been changed from s : — flōs, flōris (M.), flower.	jecur, jecinŏris (N.), liver.

honor (honōs), ōris (M.), honor.	aes, aeris (N.), copper.
pulvis, ĕris (M.), dust.	ebur, ŏris (N.), ivory.
tellūs, ūris (F.), earth.	corpus, ŏris (N.), body.
iter, itinĕris (N.), journey.	genus, ĕris (N.), race.

NOTE. — All the above classes are regular consonant stems, without any trace of i in their inflection. Some consonant-stems originally i- stems, and having i in their inflection, will be given after the real i- stems.

6. Decline the following i- stems : —

turris (F.), tower.	mare (N.), sea.
sitis (F.), thirst (3, a).	rēte (N.), net.
secūris (F.), axe.	calcar (N.), spur.
ovis (F.), sheep.	pulvīnar (N.), cushion.
clādēs (F.), disaster.	vectīgal (N.), revenue.

Observe that this class includes all nouns of the third declension which have the same number of syllables in the nominative and genitive (except patèr, etc.) ; also neuters in al and ar, which have lost a final e. They show the i of the stem in the following forms : —

1. All have the genitive plural in -ium ;
2. All neuters have the nom. and acc. plural in -ia ;
3. The accusative plural (M. or F.) is often written -īs ;
4. The accusative singular (M. or F.) sometimes ends in -im ;
5. The ablative singular of all neuters, and of many masculines and feminines, ends in -ī (see lists a and b, p. 18 of Grammar).

7. Describe the following forms (as in Lesson 3), giving first the stem and nominative.

1. tussim; 2. febrim; 3. rāvī (abl.); 4. ignī; 5. clādem; 6. imbrium; 7. puppīs; 8. sēdium; 9. animālia; 10. navālibus; 11. tribūnālī; 12. exemplārium; 13. Tiberim; 14. amussim; 15. lintrī; 16. imbrēs; 17. marī; 18. rētibus.

Decline together the following : —

1. bonus cīvis; 2. turris alta; 3. amnis lātus; 4. rēte rārum; 5. clādēs magna; 6. ovēs multae; 7. restis longa; 8. animal nigrum; 9. secūris acūta; 10. novus homo; 11. magnum opus; 12. mulier Sabīna; 13. Rōmāna virgo; 14. senex doctus; 15. mīles validus; 16. Marcus Tullius Cicero consul.

8. Some nouns originally i- stems retain traces of the i declension. Learn iii. note, with 2, c, 3, c; and decline the following : — arx, arcis (F.), citadel.	līs, lītis (M.), lawsuit.

aetās, ătis (F.), age.	mūs, mūris (M.), mouse.
faucēs, ium (F.), throat.	os, ossis (N.), bone.
gens, gentis (F.), nation.	urbs, urbis (F.), city.

NOTE. — The genitive plural in many of this class is uncertain, and the ablative in i is very rare ; so that, except those mentioned (including monosyllables with stems ending in two consonants), it is better to follow the consonant declension.

Decline bōs, nix, vīs, Juppiter (iii. 4).

N. B. The teacher may (if he think desirable) require the Rules for Gender on pp. 23, 24; but it seems best to learn each word or class of words by itself, through practice in reading and composition.

Not the guards of the citadel, doubtless valiant soldiers; not the dogs, a creature uneasy at nightly sounds; but the sacred geese of Juno wake, scream [and] save the city.

Lesson 10.

Adjectives of the Third Declension.

1. Learn § 16, 2 (with the list in a) and 3, with a; and decline the accompanying examples.

Notice: 1. That these are inflected as i-stems throughout, except that the accusative singular is never found in im, while those in 2. a, differ from other i-stems only in having the nominative and vocative singular of the masculine in er. All other adjectives in er belong to 3. c (consonant declension).

2. That the adjectives in 3, a, have i inflections in the same cases as the preceding, except that the ablative has e as well as i. [Notice rare exceptions in 3. c.] In other respects, these adjectives are declined precisely like the corresponding nouns (consonant-stems) of the third declension.

2. Learn 3. b, and decline the examples.

Notice that these comparatives have no forms of the i declension, except i along with e in the ablative singular. [But plus, with its compound complūrēs, is an exception.]

Decline the following : —

omnis, every ; plur. all.	dīves, rich.
brevis, short.	potēns, powerful.
facilis, easy.	praeceps, headlong.
fortis, brave.	pauper, poor.
gravis, heavy.	sapiēns, wise.
equester, of cavalry.	vetus, ancient.

Decline together the following : —

vir sapiens, a wise man.	vīta brevis, a short life.
īra praeceps, headlong wrath.	ager pauper, a poor field.
rex potens, a powerful king.	exsul inops, a destitute exile.

Lesson 11.

Comparison of Adjectives.

1. Learn the regular forms of Comparison in § 17, 1, with a and b; and compare the following : — cārus, levis, fēlix, hebes, miser, celer, fēlix, ūber, vetus, facilis, similis, humilis.

2. Learn the forms of Irregular and Defective Comparison, § 17, 2, 3, (with a) ; and compare the following : — bonus, magnus, malus, multum, parvus, prior, propior, inferus, superus.

3. Decline together also the following, — forming the comparative or superlative according to the rules or examples given : — vir bonus, a better man.   filius parvus (3. b), the younger son.

cōpia magnus, the greatest forces.   pugna ācer, a very fierce fight.
mos vetus, a most ancient custom.   nox longa, the longest night.
jūdex mitis, a gentle judge.   carmen jūcundus, a jollier song.

4. Learn the regular comparison of Adverbs, § 17, 4. Compare adverbs from the following : —

Lesson 13.

Pronouns: Personal and Demonstrative.

Learn § 19, 1, 2, 3, with a; also 20, 1, 2, and decline the examples.

Observe that the inflection of these words includes several forms occurring in alius, ullus, etc. (Lesson 5, 3).

NOTE.— 1. The personal or demonstrative pronouns are in general used only for the sake of distinction or emphasis : as, te voco, I call you ; but quis me vocat ? ego te voco : who calls me ? it is I.

2. The personal pronouns have the same construction as nouns, and their syntax in no respect differs from that of nouns.

3. The demonstrative pronouns are properly adjectives, and generally have a noun in agreement with them, either expressed or understood. But in the oblique cases they are often — especially is — used as personal pronouns of the third person : as,

Ti. Gracchus et frāter ējus Gāius tribunī plēbis erānt, Tiberius Gracchus and his brother Caius were tribunes of the people.

Physicians rarely treat themselves. 5. Now at last we please ourselves. 6. You have a leader mindful of you, forgetful of himself. 7. No one of us has the [physical] strength of Milo. 8. You were a sharer with me of those dangers.

Lesson 14.

Pronouns: Relative, Interrogative, and Indefinite.

1. Relative. — Learn § 21, 1, with the inflection of the relative pronoun qui.

NOTE. — The forms quis (who? or anyone) and quid (what? or any thing) are never relatives. But all the forms of the relative pronoun are also interrogative and indefinite.

Learn § 48, and observe that —

1. Every relative implies some demonstrative word (or antecedent) to which it refers.

2. A sentence containing a relative must have at least two verbs, — one belonging to the relative. [Either of the verbs may, however, be understood.]

3. A relative pronoun is properly an Adjective, in agreement with some word either expressed in its own clause, or implied in the antecedent clause. This word is in Latin very frequently found in the relative clause, — sometimes in that alone, — though rarely or never in English: as, erānt duo itinera quibus itineribus domō exīre possent, there were two ways by which [ways] they could go out from home.

[See examples in § 48, 3. a, b, c.]

4. The relative clause in Latin oftener stands before the demonstrative (or antecedent) clause, while in English it more usually follows.

2. Interrogative. — Learn the inflection of the Interrogatives — > quis, quī, with quisnam, ecquis, numquis.

NOTE. — Notice the difference in use between quis and qui, etc. (see a). Quisnam is emphatic, pray, who? Ecquis and numquis are compounded from the indefinite and the interrogative particle, en and num; and mean not who? but any (see 2. d): as, > ecquis nos videt? does any one see us?

> numquid hoc dubitās? do you at all doubt this?

3. Indefinite. — Learn the inflection of the following (2. c, d, e): — quīdam, a certain one.	quisquam, any one (2, b).

quīvīs, any one.	aliquis, some one.
quisque, every one.	quis, one.
unusquisque, each.	siquis, if any.

All these are construed either as simple adjectives or as nouns. But notice the difference in the use of quis and qui in these compounds (1, c).

Learn 2, a, with the inflection of quisquis (2. b).

NOTE. — The indefinite relative — in English whoever, whatever — is in construction a true relative, of which, however, the antecedent is very rarely expressed. Observe that it is regularly formed in Latin in two ways: 1. by adding -cumque (-cunque) to the relative; 2. by doubling the interrogative.

> [Compare the forms ubicumque or ubiubi, etc., in § 22.]

4. Correlative. — Learn § 21, 2. g, and § 22, so as to know the correspondence of the relative and demonstrative forms. Observe that —

1. With the exception of quando (when?) the relative and interrogative forms are alike throughout.

2. The relative Adverbs — as cum, when; ubi, where; quō, whither; unde, whence — follow the same rules of construction as relative Pronouns.

1. Whatever is conspicuous among [its] neighbors is great there where it is conspicuous. For greatness has an uncertain measure. A ship which is large in a river is small in the sea. A helm which is large for one ship is small for another. 2. As other good things, so every good book is better, the larger [it is]. 3. I have frequent discussion with a certain learned man, to whom nothing is so pleasing as brevity.

Lesson 15.

Numerals.

1. Learn § 18, 1, with the list of Cardinal Numbers, and the declension of those which are declinable (a, b, c, d, e).

2. Learn the method of forming the Ordinals, Distributives, and Numeral Adverbs; and commit to memory the exceptional ones (1 to 5).

a. The cardinal numbers are constantly used in denoting measures of time and space. In such expressions the accusative is generally used to denote duration of time or extent of space; but sometimes the genitive (of quality, § 55, 2. a) is used with nouns.

b. To express miles, the phrase milia passuum is used; one thousand passus, or paces, being the length of the Roman mile.

c. Give in Latin the following numbers : —

13, 58, 87, 45; 120, 625; 1560, 1874, 25,000, 1,000,000; 5th, 25th, 125th; once; twice; 5 times; 25 times; 10 apiece.

2. Learn § 27, 1, 4, 5. a, b, c; § 28, 1 (read a, b, c), 2 (read the sections a to h).

Questions on the above.

1. What are the Moods of a Latin verb? What Tenses are wanting in the Subjunctive? in the Imperative? Which are the compound tenses of the Passive (2. b)? how are they formed?

2. How is the Indicative Mood used? the Subjunctive? the Imperative? the Infinitive?

3. Which are the tenses of incomplete (or continued) action? of completed action? How are the latter formed in the Passive?

4. Upon what stem are the tenses of incomplete action formed? those of completed action? the perfect participle?

5. What are the Personal Endings of the active voice? of the passive? What changes are made in the verb-stem? What is the formation of the so-called supine stem (§ 28, 2. f)?

N. B. The learner is advised to study the forms given in the Table on page 56, and to keep them before his eye, in his reading of Latin sentences, until they are quite familiar. The four regular conjugations simply have these forms either in combination with the characteristic vowel or modified by it (§ 30).

Lesson 17.

The Verb ESSE, to be.

1. Learn § 29, with the Principal Parts and the full Conjugation of esse, giving the meaning of each form in English; also a and b.

a. Notice the division of the tenses into two groups, — one (the tenses of continued action) being formed from the root ES, found in the English am, is; the other (the tenses of completed action) being formed from the root FU, found in the English be. By noticing these different roots, with the tenses formed from each, the learner will be guided in distinguishing the corresponding formations in other verbs, where the stems only and not the roots differ.

b. Compare the inflection of esse with the table of verb-endings given on page 56. It will be noticed that the imperfect and future differ from the forms in -bam and -bo, which are compound forms ; and that these tenses of esse are used in forming the regular terminations of the pluperfect and future perfect : as, fu-eram, fu-ero. These terminations, with all those formed upon the perfect stem, are alike for all verbs in the language, whether regular or irregular.

c. The Principal Parts (given at the head) should always be carefully committed to memory, as in these are found the different stems on which the several groups of tenses are formed (§ 30, 5).

2. Give the mood, tense, &c., with the meaning, of the following : —

1. fuistī ; 2. eritis ; 3. fuissem ; 4. essēmus ; 5. fuerātis ; 6. fuisse ; 7. fuerim ; 8. sīnt ; 9. fore ; 10. forēnt ; 11. esse ; 12. essētis ; 13. futūrum esse ; 14. fuerimus ; 15. potuit ; 16. possēnt ; 17. possīnt ; 18. prōdestis ; 19. potuisse ; 20. potuisset ; 21. esto ; 22. sunto ; 23. fuērunt ; 24. erimus ; 25. fuerit ; 26. prōderit ; 27. prōsīmus ; 28. potuerit.

2. What is the termination of the present participle (-ns) ? its meaning ? Of the future participle (-turus) ? its meaning and use ? Of the perfect participle (-tus or -sus) ? Of the Gerundive (-dus) ? its adjective meaning ? its use in the oblique cases ?

3. What is the Gerund form? its meaning? What is the Supine? how is it to be translated?

4. Which are the tenses of incomplete (continued) action? of completed action? of indefinite action?

5. What distinction in meaning between the imperfect and the perfect? Give examples. What are the two uses of the perfect? Give an example of the perfect definite; of the perfect historical. Translate the words longius prosequī vetuit, quod locī nātūram ignōrābat; and point out the use of the tenses.

6. How are the tenses of completed action formed in the passive? Express in Latin, Cæsar was slain; he had been slain.

a. Inflect the Active Voice of amo (§ 31) as far as and including the Imperative Mood; giving first the Principal Parts and the Synopsis (§ 30, 5. a, b).

b. Compare the inflection with that of esse, noticing the two stems (present and perfect) corresponding to the two roots ES and FU (§ 27, 5. a, b).

c. Compare the inflection of amo with the Personal Endings in § 28, 1. a, b, c; also 2. c.

d. Like amo inflect the following: — aro, plough.	paro. prepare.	spēro, hope.

creo, create, appoint.	pugno, fight.	voco, call.

e. Learn (from the list on page 67) the Principal Parts, and give the full Synopsis of the following: —

do, give.	juvo, help, please.	sto, stand.
domo, subdue.	seco, cut.	veto, forbid.

f. Describe the following forms: —

1. arābit; 2. amāverat (or amārat, § 30, 6, a); 3. dedit; 4. parāvisset (parāsset); 5. stetērunt; 6. jūverint; 7. spērāvistī (spērāstī); 8. domuissent; 9. secuerat; 10. domābant; 11. vetuistis; 12. dedēre; 13. paret; 14. juvārēnt; 15. pugnābis; 16. dāto; 17. vocānto; 18. secuerim; 19. vocābitis.

Lesson 20.

Regular Verb: First Conjugation.

2. PASSIVE VOICE.

Learn the forms of the Passive Voice of amo, corresponding with those already given in the Active.

Compare the personal endings of the active and passive (§ 28, 1); see also the signification of the passive form as given in the Note.

Observe that —

1. In the tenses of completed action in the passive, — the perfect, pluperfect, and future perfect, — the participle (amātus, &c.) is treated as an adjective, agreeing in gender and number with the subject of the verb: as, > bellum parātum est, war has been prepared.

> Gallī domitī erānt, the Gauls had been subdued.
> nāvēs dēpressae sunt, the ships were sunk.

2. The passive construction is an inversion of the active, in which the object of the action becomes subject, while the subject (or agent) takes a dependent form, as follows —

a. If the agent is a person, or treated as a person (personified), it is put in the ablative with the preposition a or ab, BY: as,

> Caesar domuit Gallōs, Cæsar subdued the Gauls; > Gallī a Caesare domitī sunt, the Gauls were subdued by Cæsar.

b. If not a person, it is put in the ablative alone, or in the accusative with per: as, > famēs necat homines, hunger destroys men;

> hominēs famē necāntur, men are destroyed by hunger.

3. An Intransitive verb (having no immediate object) cannot strictly be made passive. But in Latin such verbs are used impersonally, in the third person singular only: as, > pugnātum est, there was fighting; lit. it [a battle] was fought.

Describe the following forms : —

1. arātūr; 2. amāminī; 3. pugnātum erit; 4. creābātur; 5. domitī essēnt; 6. secta erānt; 7. vocāberis; 8. parārētur; 9. vetitum erat; 10. domitī essēnt; 11. vocābuntur; 12. regnāntō; 13. vocābere; 14. dētūr; 15. paratī sīnt.

3. NOUN AND ADJECTIVE FORMS.

1. Noun Forms. — Learn the Infinitive Mood of amo in both voices, with §§ 57, 8; 58, 11; also the Gerund and Supine, with § 25.

a. The Infinitive is used (as in English) with verbs where the sense would be incomplete without another action of the same subject (Complementary infinitive, § 57, 8. c): as, consilia non possum mūtāre, I cannot change [my] plans.

Such verbs are to be able, to dare, to begin or cease, and the like.

b. The infinitive is used like the nominative of a neuter noun in such sentences as —

humānum est errāre, to err is human.

c. It is used like the accusative of a neuter noun in such sentences as — hostēs parant expugnāre oppidum, the enemy prepare to storm the town.

d. In either of these uses, it may take as subject the accusative of a noun or pronoun: as, senem saltāre indecōrum est, for an old man to dance is unbecoming.

video tē claudum esse, I see that you are lame.

Here the object of video, i. e. the thing seen, is really the substantive clause te esse claudum, not the simple accusative te.

e. The infinitive with a subject-accusative is most commonly used as the object of verbs of knowing, thinking, or telling (§ 57, 8. e). Used in this way, it becomes the principal verb in INDIRECT DISCOURSE (§ 67, 1).

f. The Gerund is used in the oblique cases as a participial noun, of which the infinitive serves as nominative or accusative (as in b, c, above): as, multae sunt causae peccāndī, many are the motives for sinning.

g. The Supine is a noun of the fourth declension in the accusative and ablative cases, but having only special uses (see § 74). It may always be translated by the English Infinitive.

2. Adjective Forms. — Learn the Participles of amo, active and passive, with § 72, 1, 2. a, b, c, and 3.

[For the inflection of the Participles, see § 16, 1, and 3. a.]

a. Participles correspond in meaning to English Participles and govern the same cases as their verbs. They may all be used also as simple adjectives, and the present and perfect are even sometimes compared as adjectives.

b. The Gerundive in the oblique cases has peculiar constructions to be shown hereafter.

c. The future participle in -rus is translated by " going to," " about to," or " to : " as, ventūra sēcula, ages to come.

d. The Perfect Participle is most frequently used with the tenses of esse in forming the tenses of completed action in the passive.

e. The Future Participle and the Gerundive are often used with the tenses of esse, to make what are sometimes called the first and second periphrastic conjugations (see and learn § 40, a and b).

f. The Participle in -dus regularly, and the Perfect Participle often, have the personal agent in the DATIVE instead of the ablative with a or ab.

[Observe that the participle in -rus is always ACTIVE, the participle in -dus always PASSIVE].

fateor, confess.	queror, complain.
loquor, speak.	ūtor, use.

NOTE. — The future infinitive of Deponents is always to be given in the active form : thus of sequor it is secūtūrus esse, not secūtum īrī.

a. Observe that the conjugation of the present stem is determined by the Infinitive, which corresponds to the passive infinitive of the four conjugations (§ 28, 2. g); while the rest of the forms are shown by the participle. Thus, queror, querī, questus, is conjugated like the passive of the 3d conjugation; its supine stem being quest-.

b. The passive originally expressed an action done to one's self, or in some way returning upon the subject. The deponents retained the active meaning, though the reflexive idea was in a great measure lost. It may, however, be still traced in many deponents. (Compare § 28, 1. note ; also § 35, 1. e, f, g).

Lesson 26.

Irregular, Defective, and Impersonal Verbs.

1. Irregular. — Learn § 37, and inflect the examples; giving the principal parts, the synopsis (with the participles), and the full inflection of the present tense in all the moods.

Observe that all the irregularities occur in the first or present stem, and consist mostly in the absence of any vowel of conjugation.

2. Defective. — Learn § 38, 1. a, b, c; and 2, with a to h, so far as to recognize the forms.

3. Impersonal. — Learn § 39, and read carefully a, b, c, d, giving the full synopsis (in the third person singular, with infinitives and gerund) of the verbs in b and d.

a. Notice that these verbs are conjugated like others of similar endings (those in -at as verbs of the 1st conjugation, and those in -et as those of the 2d, etc.): as oportet, oportēbat, oportuit, oportēre.

b. The verbs in b have sometimes the tenses of completed action in the passive (deponent) form: as, licuit or licitum est, etc.

c. The verbs in b and c can rarely be translated literally, but must be rendered by a different idiom: as, poenitet me, I repent (am sorry or dissatisfied), etc.

4. Describe the following forms : —

1. vultis (voltis); 2. velim; 3. vellem; 4. nōllet; 5. mālim; 6. voluisse; 7. fert; 8. tulerat; 9. ferris; 10. fertor; 11. lātī erānt; 12. estur; 13. ībunt; 14. īvisset (īsset); 15. eāmus; 16. euntis; 17. fierī; 18. faxim; 19. fīunto; 20. factum est; 21. benefīat; 22. coeperānt; 23. coeptus est; 24. ōdērunt; 25. memento; 26. āiēbat; 27. inquit; 28. fāre; 29. quaesumus; 30. nequībunt; 31. infit; 32. grandinat; 33. nōs poenitēbit; 34. nōbīs eundum est; 35. licuisset; 36. juvābit; 37. praestābat; 38. interfuit; 39. pigeat; 40. licitum erat.

Lesson 28.

Particles.

1. Adverbs. — Learn § 41, with 1, a and b (reading the subsections d to l), and 2 (classification of Adverbs).

The learner should commit to memory the first five groups of correlatives under 2, a ; and notice the regularity of all.

2. Prepositions. — Learn § 42, 1, with a, b, c, including the lists of Prepositions, with their meaning, and 3 (prepositions in Compounds).

N. B. If thought desirable, only the more common prepositions in a and b may be committed to memory, the teacher marking them in the list.

3. Conjunctions. — Learn § 43, 1, with a and b (classification of Conjunctions).

Questions on the above.

1. What parts of speech are Particles ? 2. Why so called (see § 5, 4) ? 3. Are these parts of speech always distinguished from one another ? 4. How are Adverbs formed from adjectives of the first and second declensions ? 5. How from adjectives of the third declension ? 6. What cases of adjectives are regularly used as adverbs ? 7. How do you explain the forms multum, falsō, contrā, citrā, ibi, deinde, statim, palam, forās, penitus, anteā, obviam, quamobrem, forsitan, scīlicet ? 8. How are adverbs classified ? Give an example of each class.

9. How are Prepositions distinguished from Adverbs ? 10. Which prepositions require to be followed by the Accusative ? 11. Which by the Ablative ? 12. Which are followed by either case ? 13. With what distinction in meaning, in the case of in and sub ? 14. Which prepositions are most frequently used as adverbs (see § 56, 3, d) ? 15. What is the adverbial meaning, in compounds, of the following: a (ab), ad, con, dē, in, ob ? 16. Which classes of Conjunctions are coördinate ? 17. Which are subordinate ? 18. What is the meaning of those terms (see § 45, 5, b, c) ? 19. Give an example (or examples), with the meaning, of the following : — Copulative, Disjunctive, Causal, Concessive, and Final. 20. Give some of the most common Interjections, with their meaning.

CONSTRUCTIONS OF SYNTAX.

THE preceding Lessons include practice on the forms of Latin inflections, but with such constructions only, as the definitions of the cases, moods, and tenses naturally suggest.
Before reading continuous passages, some less obvious constructions must be learned. These are divided into sections of convenient length for single lessons, and may be so studied if the teacher prefer; or he may, at his discretion, proceed at once to reading the annotated passages which follow, taking up each principle as it occurs in practice. In either case, it will aid greatly in the intelligent progress of the learner, if the constructions here given should all be studied and made familiar, before attempting the reading of any author in course. They should be compared, throughout, with the " Synopsis of Constructions " on pp. 248, 249, of the Grammar.
In the simpler constructions, the short rules § 75 (marked R.) may be substituted at pleasure for the more extended form, when the principle has been made familiar.

A. — Uses of Cases: 1. As Objects of Verbs.

1. The Accusative as Direct Object (§ 52, with 1.
a and b; R. 21).

a. The accusatives in § 52, 1. a, are usually rendered with a preposition in English, though sometimes a transitive verb may be supplied : as, rīdēre, to laugh at or ridicule; dolēre, to grieve at or lament, &c.

b. With § 52, 1. d compare § 51, 2. d; noticing that there is usually no difference in the translation of the two classes of verbs, which are generally transitive in English : as, adīre aliquem, to approach one; obstāre alicui, to withstand one.

2. The use of two Accusatives (§ 52, 2 ; R. 25).

3. The Dative as Indirect Object (§ 51, 1, 2, with a and d; read the classes of verbs in b; R. 14, 16).

Several verbs of the list in § 51, 2. a (as to favor, envy, serve, &c.) seem to be transitive. The fact is, that the Latin retains a primary meaning which is lost in English : as, invidēre (envy) is to look [askance] at one ; servīre is to be a slave ; suādēre is to make [a thing] pleasant to any one (compare suāvis, sweet). See Remark 1, and the second paragraph of the Note on page 121. [The list of verbs in § 51, 2. a and b, will be learned gradually, in the course of practice.]

4. The Genitive as Object of Memory, Feeling, &c. (§ 50, 4. a, b, c, with 1, 2 ; R. 12).

5. The Ablative with utor, etc. (§ 56, 6. d ; R. 31).

NOTE. — The above rules cover the frequent cases in which the Accusative is used after verbs which do not take a direct object in English ; also those uses of the Genitive and Dative in which they require to be translated by the English Objective.

B. — Uses of Cases : 2. As Modifying Adjectives.

6. The Genitive following Adjectives (50, 3. b, c, d). Compare the lists of adjectives in § 50, 3. d, with that in § 51, 6. c. These adjectives, when followed by the genitive, have in fact become nouns (compare § 47, 3): as, cognātus Cicerōnis, Cicero's kinsman ; Cicerōnī cognātus, kindred with Cicero. [Compare such phrases as meus aequālis, my contemporary.]

7. The Dative of Nearness, &c. (§ 51, 6 ; R. 15).

8. The Ablative of want (§ 54, 1. c, d ; R. 28) ; 9. of source (id. 2. a ; R. 29) ; 10. of comparison (id. 5 ; R. 32) ; 11. of means (id. 6, with c ; R. 30) ; 12. of difference (id. 6. e ; R. 33).

a. Notice that § 54, 5 (ablative of comparison) and 6. c (ablative of difference), expressing different relations, may be used together with the same adjective : as, multō dīvitior Crassō, much richer than Crassus.

b. All the words under § 54, 6. e, are either participles, like abundāns, complētus ; or were originally participles, as plēnus. When used as pure adjectives, they take the genitive under § 50, 3. b.

c. The ablatives under Rule 30 (§ 75) are of various origin, and must be translated according to the English idiom : as, dignus, worthy of ; praeditus, gifted with, &c. (compare § 54, 3. a ; 10. a).

NOTE. — Some of the above are also to be classed among the adverbial uses of cases ; but they are distinguished by being used to complete the meaning of the adjective on which they depend.

C. — Uses of Cases : 3. Miscellaneous.

13. Adverbial Accusative (§ 52, 3, with a, b, c; R. 24).

The accusatives under § 52, 3. a, are usually translated as adverbs (see examples).

14. The Accusative in Exclamations (§ 52, 4. a).

15. Dative of possession (§ 51, 3; R. 17); 16. of service (id. 5; R. 20); 17. of reference (id. 7).

a. The dative (of service) under § 51, 5, may sometimes be translated as predicate nominative; but more commonly with the preposition OF.

b. The Dative (of reference) in § 51, 7, merely expresses a more remote relation than those under 2 (indirect object): compare the first examples under each.

18. Ablative of separation (§ 54, 1; R. 28); 19. of cause (id. 3; R. 26); 20. of means (id. 6); 21. of manner and quality (id. 7, with § 50, 1. g); 22. of price (id. 8, with a, and § 50, 1. i; R. 11); 23. of specification (id. 9); 24. locative (id. 10 with a).

For the translation of the Ablative of separation (§ 54, 1), generally by OF or FROM, see examples.

25. Predicate Genitive (§ 50, 1. c and d, with the Remark; R. 8).

26. Relations of Time and Space (§ 55, 1, with b; 3, with a, b, c, d, f; R. 23, 34, 36).

Compare the Note, § 55, 3 (Relations of Place), with § 42, 1, and with the Note on page 113.

D. — Use of Moods and Tenses.

27. Independent uses of the Subjunctive (§ 57, 2, with a; 3, 4, 6; compare § 60, 2. a, b; R. 43).

28. Historical Infinitive (§ 57, 8. h; R. 40).

N. B. The present infinitive (§ 58, 11), when depending on a past tense, is to be translated by a past tense (see first example); sometimes by the perfect infinitive (§ 58, 11. a).

29. The Sequence of Tenses (§ 58, 9, 10, with 1, 2; learning by heart the Rule and Examples, and reading the Remark carefully).

The perfect and pluperfect subjunctive under this rule may express a relatively future action, as representing in indirect discourse the future perfect indicative: as, si discessisset = if he shall depart (shall have departed), &c. — B. G. i. 45.

E. — Subordinate Constructions.

30. CONDITIONAL CLAUSES. — Definitions (§ 59, with 1, reading the Note).

Commit to memory the models on page 167, with their meaning. Read carefully 3. a, b; 4. a, b, c.

31. Disguised Conditions (§ 60, 1, with a).

32. Conditional Particles (§ 61, 1, with Remark).

Observe that with these particles the subj. present is translated like the imperfect in § 59, 3. b (condition contrary to fact).

33. TEMPORAL CLAUSES. — Absolute and Relative Time (§ 62, 2, reading the Note).

34. The Particles ubi, postquam, etc. (id. 2. a).

35. The construction of cum temporal (id. 2. b).

36. Cum causal or concessive (id. e).

a. Cum followed by the present or perfect subjunctive is almost always CAUSAL, and is to be translated since, while, or although.

b. Cum followed by the imperfect or pluperfect subjunctive is more commonly TEMPORAL. In this case, it is sometimes to be translated when; but is often best rendered by a participle, present or perfect, in English.

37. PURPOSE: with ut, quo, ne (§ 64, 1).

This is often to be translated may or might; but oftener by the simple infinitive.

38. RESULT: clause of Characteristic (§ 65, 2).

This is to be translated variously according to the context (see examples under a, b, c, d, e, f, noticing particularly e).

N. B. The above are the only cases in which the Subjunctive affects the translation into English.

39. DEPENDENT: relative or conditional (R. 47; read § 66, with 1 and 2; compare § 67, 1).

F.— Substantive Clauses.

40. Classification (§ 70, 1 ; reading the Definition and Remark).

41. Accusative and Infinitive (§ 70, 2 ; comparing § 67 and 1, indirect discourse; also § 57, 8. e; R. 39).

The English word of indirect discourse is THAT; but it is frequently well to omit the that in translation, or even to change to direct discourse as if the clause were independent. These clauses come after any word of seeing, saying, thinking, and the like.

42. Substantive clauses of purpose (§ 70, 3).

These may be translated by THAT with the auxiliaries may, might, shall, should; but often by the simple Infinitive.

43. Substantive clauses of result (§ 70, 4).

These may be translated by THAT, with or without the auxiliaries can, could; occasionally by the simple Infinitive ; sometimes by the participial noun in -ING (see examples under g), especially after verbs of hindering.

In general, the learner may be advised to use the Infinitive in rendering a Latin object-clause, wherever the English idiom permits.

44. The Clause with quod (§ 70, 5).

This is generally to be translated by THAT, or THE FACT THAT ; occasionally by WHEREAS.

45. Indirect Questions (§ 67, 2, and read the Remark ; R. 45).

Observe that an Indirect Question occurs only when an interrogative clause (or one introduced by an interrogative word) is made the subject or object of some verb, or equivalent phrase. Thus the words who is there? are a DIRECT QUESTION ; in the sentence I do not know [it is uncertain] who is there, the same words are an INDIRECT QUESTION. This form is to be carefully distinguished from dependent RELATIVE clauses under 39, above ; also from direct questions in the subjunctive mood (dubitative subjunctive): as, quid faciam, what shall I do? quid facerem? what was I to do?

G. — Participial Constructions.

46. Predicate use of Participles (§ 72, 1, with b; 2, 3, 4).

In these constructions, the translation must be varied to conform to the English idiom (see § 72, 3, with the Remark).

47. Ablative Absolute (§ 54, 10. b, reading the Note; R. 35).

a. The Ablative Absolute is very rarely found except with the present active and the perfect passive participle. It is generally to be rendered, when possible, by an active construction in English.

b. As the Nominative Absolute is rarely admissible in English, a change of form is generally required in translation. Thus the present participle is oftenest to be rendered by a relative clause with when or while; and the perfect passive participle by the perfect active participle in English. These changes may be seen in the following example : —

"At illi, intermisso spatio, imprudentibus nostris, atque occupatis in munitione castrorum, subito se ex silvis ejecerunt ; *impetu*que in eos facto, qui erant in statione pro castris collocati, acriter pugnaverunt ; duabusque missis subsidio cohortibus a Caesare, cum hae (perexiguo intermisso loci spatio inter se) constitissent, novo genere pugnae perterritis nostris, per medios audacissime perruperunt, seque inde incolumes receperunt." — CÆSAR, B. G. v. 15.

"But they, having paused a space while our men were unaware and busied in fortifying the camp, suddenly threw themselves out of the woods ; then making an attack upon those who were on guard in front of the camp, fought fiercely ; and, though two cohorts had been sent to their relief by Cæsar, after these had taken their position (leaving very little space of ground between them), as our men were alarmed by the strange kind of fighting, they dashed most daringly through the midst of them, and got off safe."

48. Gerundive Constructions (§ 72, 5. c; § 73, 2 ; R. 41).

NOTE. — In this Gerundive use the form in dus is always ACTIVE (translated by a participial noun followed by the objective) ; in the Predicate use it is always PASSIVE (translated ought, must, &c. ; see Lesson 21, 2, f).

DERIVATION OF WORDS.

THE Derivation of Words is one of the most important branches of Grammar. No one can know a language by study unless he becomes able to analyze its words and group them together, as "families," in their natural classification. Especially no progress can be made in reading at sight — practically the most valuable thing in the knowledge of a language — without a good acquaintance with its formative part.

The exercises here given are intended to aid in acquiring this knowledge ; and they are followed by a selection of passages, in reading which it is expected that the learner will be guided not merely by the dictionary meaning of the words, but (so far as may be) by the meanings of root or stem, and terminations, as explained by the laws of derivation and the groupings of families of words. As introductory to these, he should learn § 44 (general definition), with 1 and a ; and read b carefully, with the Note. The teacher should illustrate the exercises throughout on the blackboard, so as to inculcate the true idea of language as built up from Roots by means of originally significant terminations ("Stem-building").

NOTE. — It is not expected that the pupil should fully understand the illustrations under b ; but only that he should learn to distinguish readily between the root and its derivatives. Even when the meaning of the root cannot be exactly determined, but is found in a group or family of words, — or when the formative part is uncertain in the same way, — the habit thus acquired is a very great aid in mastering the Vocabulary.

1. Learn carefully the meaning of the following significant endings (§ 44, 1. c), and show their force in the accompanying derivatives : —

1. tor, trīx : — arator (aro, plough); cultrix (colo, cultivate).
Notice that the t becomes s in the same verbs that have the supine in s (see § 30, 3. f ; 1, 3 f[4]).

2. io, tio : opinio (opīnor, think); sessio (sĕdeo, sit).

3. men, mentum: flumen (fluo, flow); frumentum (fruor, enjoy).

4. ulus, olus, ellus, culus: rivulus (rīvus, stream); gladiolus (gladius, sword); puella (puer, boy); munusculum (mūnus, gift).

5. itās, itūdo, ia (of which the i belongs to the stem of the primitive): caritas (cārus, dear); magnitudo (magnus, great); absentia (absens, absent).

6. ānus, ensis: Romanus (Rōma, Rome); Siciliensis (Sicilia, Sicily).

7. ides, ades, is; Priamides (Priamus, Priam); Tyndaris (Tyndarus); Atlantiades (Atlas).

8. ālis, āris, ilis: tribunalis (tribūnus, tribune); militaris (mīles, soldier); hostilis (hostis, enemy).

9. eus, āceus: aureus (aurum, gold); cretaceus (crēta, chalk).

10. ōsus, tus: copiosus (cōpia, plenty); auritus (auris, ear).

11. āx, idus, bundus: pugnax (pugno, fight); lucidus (lūceo, shine); moribundus (morior, die).

12. ilis, bilis (passive verbal): fragilis (frango); nobilis (nosco).

2. Use the list given on pages 97, 98, in determining the meaning of the following words, with the force of the significant ending (consulting the lexicon when necessary); bearing in mind that derivatives are formed from roots and stems, not from nominatives or present tenses, etc.

1. victor; 2. cēnsor; 3. genetrīx; 4. mēnsūra; 5. dēmentia; 6. legio; 7. hospitium; 8. cognōmen; 9. amplitūdo; 10. levitās; 11. innocentia; 12. spectāculum; 13. fīliolus; 14. Atrīdes; 15. Nerēis; 16. Crētēnsis; 17. Fidēnās; 18. vitulīna (caro); 19. ovīle; 20. arbustum; 21. paluster; 22. patrīcius; 23. aerumnōsus; 24. edāx; 25. timidus; 26. egregius; 27. recidīvus; 28. habilis; 29. acidulus; 30. dīversōrium; 31. alumnus; 32. argentārius; 33. spectābilis; 34. timor; 35. majusculus; 36. facilis; 37. rapidus; 38. trepidus; 39. tremulus; 40. diuturnus; 41. apiārium.

As an example of analysis for the purpose of determining meaning, take the word pābulātio. The termination tio is seen to be a "verbal abstract;" that is, to express, in a general or abstract way, the action of a verb. The long ā points to a verb of the first conjugation (2. *a*¹), formed from an adjective or noun of the first or second declension. This leads us to the noun pābulum; and the verb would signify doing something with that noun. In c^2 (last line), bulum is found as a termination of nouns of means : pābulum is the means of doing the action expressed in the root PA. As roots are not given in our lexicons, we must learn to recognize them in the present stems of verbs (see Lesson 28). If the pupil now finds or has already learned the meaning of pascor, he can see that pābulum is a means of feeding; pābulor (deponent) is to obtain (say) the means of feeding; and pābulātio (in the connection where we find it) can only mean foraging.

Other examples might be found, as in dōnatīvus (from dōnum, root DA, termination na), through dōno and part. dōnātus; pere-grinātio (from per-ager; root AG, termination ra); and so on, to any extent. The teacher will do well to encourage the practice of analyzing words on the above model, but not of course to carry it so far as to weary the pupil.

Even when the meaning of the root does not appear at all, the grouping of the derivations may still be very instructive. Thus, humus, ground; humilis, low (on the ground); homo (-in; see 1, b, N.), man (creature of earth); hūmānus, gentle (as belonging to man in distinction from brutes); hūmānitās, gentleness or refinement. When the learner comes to the Greek χαμαί, on the ground, he will recognize it as of the same derivation ; and his curiosity may be gratified by learning that the same root is found in the German Bräutigam and the English bridegroom.

The chief advantage, however, is in the knowledge of immediate and conscious derivatives. Thus, aedīlicius can only mean belonging to an œdile, while aedīlis itself must have something to do with public edifices (aedi-ficia); sermunculus must mean a little talk; esurio, desire to eat, hence to be hungry; emāx, eager to buy, and so on. Compare, for illustration, the following words from one root: medeor, medicus medicīna, medicīnālis, medicor, medicāmentum, medicāmentārius, medicābilis, medicamentō-sus, meditor (frequentative, with an earlier meaning preserved). Notice the modes of formation in the foregoing words.

3. Explain the meaning and force of the termination in each of the following derivative verbs, giving the form of the primitive : —

1. flōresco; 2. capesso; 3. dictito; 4. jacto; 5. cantillo; 6. empturio; 7. timesco; 8. cēsso; 9. agito; 10. calesco; 11. laudo; 12. mīlito; 13. insānio; 14. flōreo; 15. salveo; 16. sector; 17. dominor; 18. sitio.

4. Explain the meaning and derivation of the following compounds, using the vocabulary when necessary (§ 44, 3) : —

1. mātricīda, 2. suŏvetaurīlia; 3. longimanus; 4. signifer; 5. āliger; 6. artifex; 7. cornicen; 8. princeps; 9. praeceps; 10. discors; 11. pusillanimus; 12. quintuplex; 13. benefacio; 14. adfero (affero); 15. aufero (abfero); 16. obfero (offero); 17. ambitus; 18. reditus; 19. redditus; 20. sēcerno; 21. portendo; 22. amputo; 23. computo; 24. crēdo; 25. nāvigo; 26. biennium; 27. sēmestris.

The analysis of the above words will either suggest the meaning, or at any rate fix it in the memory. Thus, suovetaurīlia can only mean something to do with a swine, a sheep, and a bull; and, if we learn the habit of the Romans to put the names of sacrifices and feasts in the neuter plural, we shall know the word at its first appearance.

Even if no advantage were gained in acquiring or retaining the meaning, yet the words become more interesting and lively, and the knowledge of them more intelligent and fruitful. Thus in redintegrātio we have the prefix red-, back again (to its former state); the ending -tio (verbal abstract); the verb is integro (āre), denominative from integer, whole or sound (in, not; TAG, root of tango, touch; ra, participial = tus or nus): hence the meaning restoration (making uninjured again).

In such derivatives as amputo, computo, the meanings seem absurdly inconsistent. But the verb is a denominative from the adjective putus, a collateral form of purus, clean (see 1, b). The corresponding verb (which would be puo) is lost; but its original sense appears in puto, to clean up (as by trimming off a diseased branch), and also to clear up (as an account), and so to reckon, then to think, which meanings are divided between the above compounds.

5. Form words with the following meanings from the accompanying primitives : —

1. A reckoning (reor, reckon); 2. An assembly (convenio, come together); 3. Arrangement (dispōno, distribute); 4. A change (verto, turn). 5. A joining (jungo); 6. A breaking (frango); 7. Length (longus); 8. Breadth (lātus); 9. Power of holding (capāx from capio, take); 10. Means of teaching (doceo); 11. Means of support (colo); 12. Means of covering (tego); 13. Brightness (clārus); 14. Softness (mollis, soft); 15. Sweetness

(suāvis); 16. Means of trying (ex-perior); 17. A tray (for carrying: fero); 18. A piece broken (frango); 19. Means of feeding (alo); 20. A bramble-thicket (dumus); 21. A rose-garden (rosa); 22. A dove-cote (columba); 23. Lamentable (fleo); 24. Made of flowers (flōs); 25. Blooming (flōreo); 26. Sickly (morbus); 27. Commerce (mercor); 28. A mingling (misceo); 29. Belonging to a soldier (mīles); 30. To grow mild (mītis); 31. A little measure (modus); 32. A little pattern (forma); 33. A little man (homo); 34. A little puppy (catulus); 35. A means of defence (mūnio); 36. Changeable (mūto); 37. Teachable (doceo); 38. With a large nose (nasus); 39. With horns (cornū); 40. Bearded (barba); 41. Belonging to a ship (nāvis); 42. Sinewy (nervus); 43. Snowy (nix); 44. A little eye (oculus): 45. Son of Priam (Priamus).

READING AT SIGHT.

Constant practice in reading at sight is the surest way to secure a practical acquaintance with the vocabulary and grammar of any language. Much time and labor are wasted in learning merely about the languages we study, instead of studying the languages themselves, or the ideas expressed in them. It is one thing to be able to read passages which we have already studied; but quite a different thing to have such knowledge of a language, that its words at once suggest corresponding ideas, and its moods, tenses, cases, &c., suggest their right logical relations.

Few learners are aware how much the latter kind of knowledge — how much even of the power and skill (or knack) of getting it — may be acquired by practice. To aid in its acquisition, the learner is desired to bear in mind the following directions : —

1. Look first at the endings of words, so as to become instantly aware of their grammatical relations.

This it is not natural for an English-speaking person to do. The habit of it must be formed by practice; and the earlier the practice is formed, the better.

2. Observe the significant endings (§ 44, 1. c), and always connect obvious derivatives with their primitives.

3. Even where derivations are not obvious, group words in families, so as to associate their meanings.

In many cases, the succession of words in the lexicon will be sufficient to suggest these groups. Notice what in the words is like and what is unlike; what words mean with a given root or stem, and what effect is given by a different termination.

4. Associate the Latin words with English derivatives, however remote; and with other languages if you happen to know any.

5. Use any mechanical device or "thumb-rule" possible, as to the position of words, or their probable meanings in such and such connections.

6. Commit to memory phrases, or (if possible) whole passages.

To cultivate the memory merely in the way of learning the rules and principles of grammar is one great obstacle to the right knowledge of a language. A passage of Cicero, a dozen verses of Virgil, or an Ode of Horace, thoroughly studied and learned by heart, would, with far less outlay of labor, teach far more of the language than an equal bulk of grammatical rules.

7. Notice constantly such idioms, or modes of expression, as are like or unlike our own.

8. In translating aloud, always use the English idiom; but take in the Latin first in its own idiom; if possible, without even thinking of the corresponding English words.

The form of expression, or the order of words, that seems most natural to us, is very rarely that which would occur to a Roman mind, or be found in a Latin sentence. The art of good translation consists first in adjusting ourselves readily to a foreign mode of thought or speech, and then reproducing it, independently, in the form natural to our own tongue.

9. In translating any word, always bear in mind its leading or principal meaning.

This is not always the etymological meaning, though it may be usually traced to that ; but it is the conscious meaning (as it were), the notion which the Roman himself attached to it. For example, the leading meaning of mitto seems to be, let go, either with or without accompanying effort ; and this meaning the Roman felt in it, though we may translate it by different expressions. Thus, mittere tēlum, to throw a weapon ; mittere legātōs, to send ambassadors ; mittere aliquam rem (often), to let a thing go, to omit or pass over a thing ; hence, mittere lacrimas, to cease weeping ; mittere dīcere, to forbear saying (see mitto in Lexicon).

You should never select a meaning in the dictionary, without seeing (as in this case) what the original meaning is, which we may be sure was present to the mind of a Roman. When we learn a language from the inside out, — as we do our own, — we do this by an unconscious generalization from a great number of usages. This is of course the best way to learn a language, if we have time ; but in order to learn a language from the outside in, — as we do in the case of Latin, — we must do the same thing by conscious study.

We may even say that this is more necessary in using a good dictionary than in using a poor one ; for a good one gives meanings which — being correct in the corresponding English phrase — give a very inaccurate reflection of the true meaning of the word. Thus, capere poenās means in English to inflict punishment ; but to a Roman it meant to receive or exact the penalty for a wrong. So also with the relations of words. Cæsar says that Orgetorix was required to plead his cause ex vinculis, for which our translation must be in chains ; though this is exactly the opposite of what Cæsar says, viz. that, standing in chains, he should make his plea from them.

A few short passages are here appended, in order to illustrate the foregoing points, and show how to go to work.

1. Matrem [a] Phalaridis [b] scribit [c] Ponticus Heraclides, doctus [d] vir, auditor et discipulus Platonis, visam esse [e] videre in somnis [f] simulacra [g] deorum, quae [h] ipsa domi consecravisset ; [i] ex iis [k] Mercurium [l] e patera, [m] quam dextera manu teneret, sanguinem visum esse fundere, [n] qui cum terram attigisset, [o] refervescere [p] videretur, sic ut tota domus sanguine redundaret. [q] Quod matris somnium [r] immanis [s] filii crudelitas comprobavit. — De Divinatione, i. 23.

a. Notice that the first word is an accusative, mātrem. This must probably be either the object of a verb, or the subject of an infinitive : it can remain in suspense till the verb appears. Its meaning, mother, naturally suggests a genitive : This we find in

b. Phalaridis, which has the genitive ending of the third declension ; its nominative must be Phalaris, obviously a proper name. We may learn elsewhere that it is that of a Sicilian tyrant.

c. The verb scrībit, writes, from its meaning naturally suggests an object-clause, accusative with infinitive. Such clauses are often best rendered by direct discourse in English. Thus we may translate as if mātrem were nominative : the mother of Phalaris, writes Pontius Heraclides (obviously a proper name, and subject of scrībit).

d. The next words, being nominative, are probably in apposition with the name : doctus (participle of doceo) is taught, but as an adjective must be learned; audītor (noun of agency from audio) is hearer; discipulus (connected with disco) is clearly the same as our disciple; Platōnis (as Phalaridis, above) explains itself.

e. As we have been expecting an infinitive for an object-clause, vīsam esse (having its participle in the feminine) is the natural verb for mātrem ; and as we have learned that the passive of video means seem, we may translate (in direct discourse, as above) with vidēre, seemed to see.

f. In the phrase in somnīs, the noun is probably ablative, since the connection requires in rather than into; and comes from somnus, or -ā, or -um. Some English derivative will probably suggest the meaning sleep; and the plural form, though odd, will give no trouble.

g. The next is a new word, but may be analyzed. The termination -crum, denoting means, is appended to a verb-stem simula- : hence the verb is simulo, āre, suggesting the English verb simulate or perhaps the adjective similar. Its meaning will be something to represent ; and we may render the phrase simulācra deōrum, images of the gods.

h. The relative quae naturally refers to a noun just preceding : this cannot be deōrum, which is masculine, and must be simulācra ; ipsa might agree with quae, but will be more easily taken with the verb next following.

i. This verb, consecrāvisset, at once suggests the English consecrate. It is evidently a compound with con ; and if we remember the common change of vowel in compound verbs, and connect its meaning with sacer, sacred (already given), this meaning will be confirmed. The subjunctive form (see above, 37) does not affect the translation, which is by the simple indicative, because our idiom does not require any other mood.

k. The ablative iis will refer to the last or most important plural noun, either deōrum or simulācra, it will not matter which. The phrase may be rendered one of these.

l. Mercurium may be assumed to continue the same construction as mātrem, and will take the infinitive vīsum esse, below.

m. Patera may be left as not important for the meaning of the whole: we may, for the present, call it "something" which he held in his right hand (the relative clause here explaining itself): in fact, a shallow bowl.

n. The infinitive fundere must be guessed at from the context or given by the teacher, unless its meaning is known, to pour.

o. The verb attigisset, as a glance shows, contains the root TAG found in tango, touch; the subjunctive is required by cum, and does not affect the translation; its subject is qui, referring to the masculine sanguinem. But as two relatives cannot come together in English, we translate, and when this had touched the ground.

p. The verb refervescere should be seen to be derivative, and compounded from ferveo, which associates it with fervent, fervid; and its meaning, to boil up, is seen from our word effervescent.

q. The meaning of redundāret (overflowed) may perhaps require to be given, though a tolerably close idea may be gained by conjecture. Following ut, it is subjunctive expressing a result.

r. The phrase quod somnium may be either nominative or accusative; but, as the verb is directly preceded by the nominative crūdelitās, these words must be accusative, and the object of comprobāvit. The meaning of somnium (dream), if not known, may be easily inferred from somnus, above.

s. The adjective immānis may be either genitive with fīliī or nominative with crūdelitās: consider which needs an epithet. Its meaning (monstrous) will require to be given, as also that of comprobāvit (proved), which should, however, be explained through the adjective probus, and kindred English words.

The above analysis is given in much greater detail than will often be required in practice. When the habit has once been formed, it is followed rapidly and almost unconsciously; in fact, it is impossible, when once the mind has been trained to it, to read a single sentence without deriving help from it. In succeeding passages, only a few hints will be given.

2. Hoc item in Sileni Graeca historia est: Hannibalem, cum cepisset Saguntum, visum esse in somnis a Jove in deorum concilium vocari; quo cum venisset, Jovem imperavisse ut Italiae bellum inferret; ducem-que ei unum e concilio datum, quo illum utentem cum exercitu progredi coepisse. Tum ei ducem illum prae-cepisse ne respiceret; illum autem id diutius facere non potuisse, elatumque cupiditate respexisse. Tum visam beluam vastam et immanem, circumplicatam serpentibus, quacumque incederet omnia arbusta, vir-gulta, tesca pervertere; et eum admiratum quaesisse de deo, quodnam illud esset tale monstrum. Et deum respondisse Vastitatem esse Italiae, praecepisseque ut pergeret protinus: quid retro atque a tergo fieret ne laboraret. — id. i. 24.

This passage may be somewhat harder than the foregoing, but a little attention will show that it is in the same general construction, — "Hannibalem . . . visum esse" like "matrem . . . visam esse," — and that it contains several of the words and phrases already explained. It will greatly simplify the rendering of a passage like this, to drop the form of indirect discourse, beginning with the leading subject: Hannibal, having taken Saguntum, seemed in his sleep to be summoned, &c.: all the infinitives being translated by indicatives, and the subjunctive labōrāret as an infinitive, not to trouble himself. A number of words must of course be suggested.

3. L. Paulus, consul iterum, cum ei bellum [a] ut cum rege Perse gereret obtigisset, ut [b] ea ipsa die domum ad vesperum rediit, [b] filiolam [c] suam Tertiam, quae tum erat admodum parva, osculans animum advertit [c] tristiculam. 'Quid est,' inquit, 'mea Tertia? quid tristis es?' 'Mi pater,' inquit, 'Persa periit.' Tum ille ar-tius puellam complexus, 'Accipio,' inquit, 'mea filia, omen.' Erat autem mortuus catellus eo nomine. —
id. i. 46.

a. In this passage, — as we find it hard, with our habit of speech, to carry so many words in the mind undisposed of, — it may be necessary after bellum to look for the verb to which it belongs. As ut is a relative word, the nearest verb will belong to that; so that we must take the next following, obtigisset, the meaning of which must be given (in connection with the root TAG); the object of gereret must be supplied from bellum ; and it will read, when the war had fallen to his lot to wage with king Perses. This is not a good translation ; but, having seen the Latin idea in this way, you can easily find a corresponding English expression : It had fallen, &c.

b. To translate ut, notice at once the mood of its verb ; because the two uses of ut have meanings very far apart in English, though the Romans did not probably feel the difference. As the verb is here indicative, ut means as or when : rediit (red, back ; eo, go) signifies returned.

c. The word filiolam, diminutive of filia, explains itself; while animum advertit, turned his mind, is to be rendered as a single transitive verb, observed ; and its subject is L. Paulus.

4. Scipio Nasica cum ad poetam Ennium venisset, eique ab ostio quaerenti[a] Ennium ancilla dixisset domi non esse ;[b] Nasica sensit, illam domini jussu dixisse et illum intus esse. Paucis post diebus, cum ad Nasicam venisset Ennius, et cum a janua quaereret, exclamat Nasica, se domi non esse. Tum Ennius, ' Quid,' inquit, ' ego non cognosco vocem tuam ? ' Hic Nasica, '' Homo es impudens ; ego cum quaererem, ancillae tuae credidi, te[c] domi non esse ; tu mihi non credis ipsi.'

a. To him inquiring, &c. can only mean when he inquired for Ennius.

b. The subject of the infinitive is here wanting, a rare usage in Latin ; but it is obviously Ennius, to be supplied from the preceding.

c. The clause te domi non esse is evidently a secondary object of credidi ; but, as believe does not take two objects in English, some word like saying must be supplied.

SELECTIONS.

[The figures refer to the Constructions of Syntax, pages 46–51.]

1. A Haunted House.

1. Erat Athenis [26] spatiosa et capax domus, sed infamis et pestilens : per silentium noctis sonus ferri, et, si attenderes [30] acrius, strepitus vinculorum, longius primo, deinde e proximo, reddebatur : mox apparebat idolon, senex macie [20] et squalore confectus, promissā barbā,[21] horrenti capillo : cruribus compedes manibus catenas gerebat, quatiebatque.

2. Inde inhabitantibus tristes diraeque noctes per metum vigilabantur : vigiliam morbus, et, crescente formidine, mors sequebatur. Nam interdiu quoque, quamquam abscesserat imago, memoria imaginis oculis inerrabat ; longiorque causis [10] timor erat. Deserta inde et damnata solitudine domus, totaque illi monstro relicta ; proscribebatur tamen, seu quis emere, seu quis conducere, ignarus tanti mali,[6] vellet.[29]

3. Venit Athenas [26] philosophus Athenodorus : legit titulum ; auditoque pretio,[47] quia suspecta vilitas, percontatus,[46] omnia [2] docetur, ac nihilo [11] minus, immo tanto magis, conducit. Ubi coepit advesperascere, jubet sterni (sc. lectum) sibi prima domus parte : poscit pugillares, stilum, lumen : suos omnes in interiora dimittit ; ipse ad scribendum animum, oculos, manum intendit, ne vacua mens audita simulacra et inanes sibi [17] metus fingeret.[37]

4. Initio,[26] quale ubique, silentium noctis : deinde concuti [28] ferrum, vincula moveri. Ille non tollere [28]

oculos, non remittere stilum, sed obfirmare animum, auribusque praetendere. Tum crebrescere fragor, adventare, et jam ut in limine, jam ut intra limen, audiri. Respicit: videt agnoscitque narratam sibi effigiem. Stabat, innuebatque digito, similis vocanti.[7] Hic, contra, ut paulum [26] exspectaret [42] manu significat; rursusque ceris [3] et stilo incumbit.

5. Illa scribentis capiti catenis insonabat. Respicit rursus, idem quod prius [13] innuentem: nec moratus, tollit lumen, et sequitur. Ibat illa lento gradu, quasi gravis vinculis.[11] Postquam deflexit [34] in aream domus, repente dilapsa deserit comitem; desertus herbas et folia concerpta signum loco ponit.

6. Postero die [26] adit magistratus; [1] monet, ut illum locum effodi jubeant.[42] Inveniuntur ossa inserta catenis et implicita, quae corpus aevo [19] terrâque putrefactum nuda et exesa reliquerat vinculis: [26] collecta [46] publice sepeliuntur: domus postea, rite conditis manibus, caruit. — Pliny, Epist. vii. 27.

ii. A Sharper of Syracuse.

1. C. Canius, eques Romanus, nec infacetus, et satis literatus, cum se Syracusas, otiandi (ut ipse dicere solebat) non negotiandi causa,[19] contulisset,[35] dictitabat, se hortulos aliquos velle emere,[41] quo invitare amicos, et ubi se oblectare sine interpellatoribus, posset.[37] Quod cum percrebuisset,[35] Pythius ei quidam, qui argentariam faceret [38] Syracusis, dixit, venales quidem se hortos non habere, sed licere (sc. eis) uti Canio,[3] si vellet,[39] ut suis: [5] et simul ad cenam hominem in hortos invitavit in posterum diem.

2. Cum ille promisisset, tum Pythius (qui esset,[38] ut argentarius, apud omnes ordines gratiosus) piscatores ad se convocavit, et ab his petivit, ut ante suos hortulos postridie piscarentur:[42] dixitque, quid eos facere vellet.[45] Ad cenam tempore venit Canius: opipare a Pythio apparatum convivium: cymbarum ante oculos multitudo: pro se quisque, quod ceperat, adferebat: ante pedes Pythî pisces abiciebantur.

3. Tum Canius, 'Quaeso,' inquit, 'quid est hoc, Pythi? tantumne piscium, tantumne cymbarum?' Et ille, 'Quid mirum?' inquit. 'Hoc loco est, Syracusis quidquid est piscium: haec aquatio: hac villa[8] isti carere non possunt.' Incensus Canius cupiditate, contendit a Pythio, ut venderet. Gravate ille primo. Quid multa? impetrat: emit homo cupidus et locuples, tanti,[22] quanti Pythius voluit; et emit instructos: nomina facit: negotium conficit.

4. Invitat Canius postridie familiares suos. Venit ipse mature. Scalmum nullum videt. Quaerit ex proximo vicino, num feriae quaedam piscatorum essent,[45] quod eos nullos videret.[39] 'Nullae, quod sciam,' inquit ille: 'sed hic piscari nulli solent: itaque heri mirabar, quid accidisset.'

5. Stomachari[28] Canius, sed quid faceret?[27] nondum enim Aquillius, collega et familiaris meus, protulerat de dolo malo formulas: in quibus ipsis cum ex eo quaereretur, Quid esset dolus malus; respondebat, Cum esset aliud simulatum, aliud actum. — Cicero, De Off. iii. 14.

III. The Vale of Enna.

1. Vetus est haec opinio, judices, quae constat ex antiquissimis Graecorum litteris ac monumentis, insulam Siciliam[41] totam esse[40] Cereri[3] et Liberae consecratam. Hoc cum ceterae gentes sic arbitrantur, tum ipsis

Siculis ita persuasum est, ut in animis eorum insitum atque innatum esse videatur.[38] Nam et natas esse has in iis locis deas et fruges in ea terra primum repertas esse arbitrantur et raptam esse Liberam, quam eamdem Proserpinam vocant, ex Hennensium nemore: qui locus, quod in media est insula situs, umbilicus Siciliae nominatur. Quam cum investigare et conquirere Ceres vellet,[35] dicitur inflammasse taedas iis ignibus,[20] qui ex Aetnae vertice erumpunt: quas sibi[3] cum ipsa praeferret, orbem omnem peragrasse terrarum.

2. Henna autem, ubi ea quae dico gesta esse memorantur, est loco[24] perexcelso atque edito, quo in summo est aequata agri planities et aquae peremnes, tota vero omni aditu circumcisa atque directa est: quam circa lacus lucique sunt plurimi atque laetissimi flores omni tempore[26] anni, locus ut ipse raptum illum virginis, quem jam a pueris accepimus, declarare videatur.[38]

3. Etenim prope est spelunca quaedam, conversa ad aquilonem, infinita altitudine,[2] qua Ditem patrem ferunt repente cum curru exstitisse abreptamque ex eo loco virginem secum asportasse, et subito non longe a Syracusis penetrasse sub terras, lacumque in eo loco repente exstitisse: ubi usque ad hoc tempus Syracusani festos dies anniversarios agunt celeberrimo virorum mulierumque conventu.[20]

4. Propter hujus opinionis vetustatem, quod horum in iis locis vestigia ac prope incunabula reperiuntur deorum, mira quaedam tota Sicilia[26] privatim ac publice religio est Cereris Hennensis. Etenim multa saepe prodigia vim ejus numenque declarant: multis saepe in difficillimis rebus praesens auxilium ejus oblatum est, ut haec insula ab ea non solum diligi, sed etiam incoli custodirique videatur.[29] — id. in Verr. v. 48.

IV. The Earth is made for Man.

1. Terra vero feta frugibus et vario leguminum genere, quae cum maxima largitate fundit, ea ferarumne an hominum causa gignere videtur? Quid de vitibus olivetisque dicam? quarum uberrimi laetissimique fructus nihil omnino ad bestias pertinent. Neque enim serendi neque colendi nec tempestive demetendi percipiendique fructus, neque condendi ac reponendi ulla pecudum scientia est, earumque omnium rerum hominum [25] est et usus et cura.

2. Ut fides igitur et tibias eorum causa factas dicendum est, qui illis uti possent, sic ea, quae diximus, iis solis confitendum est esse parata, qui utuntur; nec si quae bestiae furantur aliquid ex iis aut rapiunt, illarum quoque causa ea nata esse dicemus. Neque enim homines murum aut formicarum causa frumentum condunt, sed conjugum et liberorum et familiarum suarum. Itaque bestiae furtim (ut dixi) fruuntur, domini palam et libere.

3. Tantumque abest ut haec bestiarum etiam causa parata sint,[43] ut ipsas bestias hominum gratia generatas esse videamus.[38] Quid enim oves aliud adferunt, nisi ut earum villis confectis atque contextis homines vestiantur? Quae quidem neque ali neque sustentari neque ullum fructum edere ex se sine cultu hominum et curatione potuissent.[31]

4. Canum vero tam fida custodia tamque amans dominorum adulatio tantumque odium in externos et tam incredibilis ad investigandum sagacitas narium, tanta alacritas in venando quid significat aliud nisi se ad hominum commoditates esse generatos?

5. Quid de bobus loquar? quorum ipsa terga declarant non esse se ad onus accipiendum [48] figurata, cervices autem natae ad jugum, tum vires humerorum et latitudines ad aratra extrahenda. Quibus, cum terrae subigerentur fissione glaebarum, ab illo aureo genere (ut poëtae loquuntur) vis nulla umquam adferebatur.

Ferrea tum vero proles exorta repente est,
Ausaque funestum prima est fabricarier ensem,
Et gustare manu vinctum domitumque juvencum.

Tanta putabatur utilitas percipi ex bobus, ut eorum visceribus vesci scelus haberetur.

6. Longum est mulorum persequi utilitates et asinorum, quae certe ad hominum usum paratae sunt. Sus vero quid habet praeter escam? Cui quidem, ne putesceret, animam ipsam pro sale datam dicit esse Chrysippus. Qua pecude,[10] quod[13] erat ad vescendum hominibus apta,[7] nihil genuit natura fecundius.

7. Quid multitudinem suavitatemque piscium dicam, quid avium? ex quibus tanta percipitur voluptas, ut interdum Pronoea nostra Epicurea fuisse videatur. Atque hae ne caperentur[37] quidem, nisi hominum ratione atque sollertia, quamquam aves quasdam et alites et oscines, ut nostri augures appellant, rerum[48] augurandarum causa esse natas putamus.

8. Jam vero immanes et feras beluas nanciscimur venando, ut et vescamur iis[5] et exerceamur in venando ad similitudinem bellicae disciplinae, et utamur domitis et condocefactis,[46] ut elephantis, multaque ex earum corporibus remedia morbis et vulneribus eligamus, sicut ex quibusdam stirpibus et herbis, quarum utilitates longinqui temporis usu et periclitatione percepimus.

9. Totam licet animis tamquam oculis lustrare terram mariaque omnia : cernes jam spatia frugifera atque immensa camporum vestitusque densissimos montium, pecudum pastus, tum incredibili cursus maritimos celeritate. Nec vero supra terram, sed etiam in inti-mis ejus tenebris plurimarum rerum latet utilitas, quae ad usum hominum orta ab hominibus solis invenitur.

—id De Naturâ Deorum, ii. 62–64.

v. The Heavens declare a Creator.

1. Praeclare ergo Aristoteles : ' Si essent,' inquit, ' qui sub terra semper habitavissent [39] bonis et illustri-bus domiciliis, quae essent ornata signis atque picturis, instructaque rebus iis omnibus quibus [20] abundant ii qui beati putantur, nec tamen exissent umquam supra terram, accepissent autem fama et auditione, esse [41] quoddam numen et vim deorum ; deinde aliquo tempore, patefactis terrae faucibus,[47] ex illis abditis sedibus evadere in haec loca, quae nos incolimus, atque exire potuissent : cum repente terram et maria caelumque vidissent, nubium magnitudinem ventorumque vim cognovissent, adspexissentque solem, ejusque tum magnitudinem pulchritudinemque, tum etiam efficientiam cognovissent, quod [44] is diem efficeret toto caelo luce [47] diffusa ; cum autem terras nox opacasset, tum caelum totum cernerent astris distinctum et ornatum, lunaeque luminum varietatem tum crescentis [46] tum senescentis, eorumque omnium ortus et occasus, atque in omni aeternitate ratos immutabilesque cursus ; haec cum viderent, profecto et esse deos et haec tanta opera deorum esse arbitrarentur.' — id. ii. 37.

vi. An Active Old Age.

1. Nihil [13] necesse est mihi de me ipso dicere, quamquam est id quidem senile, aetatique nostrae conceditur.
Videtisne ut apud Homerum saepissime Nestor de virtutibus suis praedicet? [45] Tertiam enim jam aetatem hominum vivebat, nec erat ei verendum ne vera praedicans de se nimis videretur [42] aut insolens aut loquax.

Etenim, ut ait Homerus, ex ejus lingua melle [10] dulcior fluebat oratio, quam ad suavitatem nullis egebat corporis viribus.[18] Et tamen dux ille Graeciae nusquam optat ut Ajacis [6] similīs habeat decem, sed ut Nestoris; quod si sibi acciderit,[39] non dubitat quin brevi sit [46]
Troja peritura.

2. Sed redeo ad me. Quartum ago annum et octo-gesimum Vellem [27] equidem idem posse gloriari quod Cyrus: sed tamen hoc queo dicere: non me quidem iis esse viribus quibus aut miles bello Punico, aut quaestor eodem bello, aut consul in Hispania fuerim, aut quadrienno [12] post, cum tribunus militaris depugnavi [35] apud Thermopylas M'. Glabrione consule [47]; sed tamen, ut vos videtis, non plane me enervavit, non adflixit senectus; non curia virīs meas desiderat, non rostra, non amici, non clientes, non hospites. Nec enim umquam sum adsensus veteri illi laudatoque proverbio, quod monet mature fieri senem, si diu velis [39] senex esse: ego vero me minus diu senem esse mallem,[27] quam esse senem ante quam essem. Itaque nemo adhuc convenire me voluit, cui fuerim [38] occupatus. — id. De Senect. 10.

INDEX OF CONSTRUCTIONS.

NOTES.

LESSON 7. — 2. habet, contains or includes. — 4. e, of (§ 50, 2, e, R[1]). — 10. incommodis (abl.), at.

LESS. 10. — 13. fruges is in apposition with alimenta, object of ministrat.

Less. 11. — 1. Gallicis: supply aedificiis. — remissioribus frigoribus, with less intense seasons of cold (cold snaps). — 2. quotannis singula milia, a thousand every year.

Less. 12. — 8. Understand by vigil, "the cock that crows in the morn." — cantum is governed by nuntiant, supplied from the preceding clause.

Less. 14. — 1. insula: supply est, which is very often omitted in Latin. — alter, here one, corresponding to inferior below which is equal to another alter. — 4. volcanum in cornu, i. e. a horn lantern. — 8. falsi, deceived, i. e. mistaken. The inconsistent things (res) are voluptatem and præmia, etc., which are in apposition with res. — 12. testes, witness : plural because Philippi (the name of the place) happens to be plural. — quorum depends on humus. — 13. quot homines, etc.: the Latin form of the proverb, many men, many minds.

Less. 15. — 1. agnae meae, in English, of my lambs, or lambs of mine. — 2. senos, take with dies.

Less. 19. — 1. Pausanias was a king of Spain, victorious at Platæa, afterwards accused of taking bribes from the Persians. — 2. qui: the antecedent, īdem, should be taken first in translation. In Latin the relative usually comes first, and we must look farther on for the antecedent. — 4. nudus is predicate. — 5. ipse is in agreement with the implied subject of pugna (tu). — 8. secundis agrees with rebus. Very often in Latin some word comes between an adjective and its noun on purpose to separate them; though here it is on account of metre.

Less. 20. — 3. hic, here (adv.). — 6. dispari domino : the dative here is by an old or poetic use ; the syntax would regularly require a or ab ; dominare is second person singular of the verb used as passive. It has usually an active force. — 7. mutantur, not are changed, but change (themselves) constantly.

Less. 21. — 5. jam, i. e. now at length. — 9. de vestra vita, for your lives : the usual meaning of de with words of fighting.

Less. 22. — 8. provinciam (predicate), as his province.

Less. 23. — 6. rem, etc. = you have hit the nail on the head. — 14. illius viri = that great man.

Less. 25. — 11. gallinis, dative following supponimus, under hens.

Less. 26. — 6. licere putat, thinks it to be allowed : the subject does not appear because the verb is impersonal. — 7. ferunt, they say.

SELECTION I. — 1. sonus is limited by ferri, and subject of reddebatur.

2. inhabitantibus (dative), translate by (strictly on the part of). — vigiliam, object of sequebatur. In English the passive construction would be more natural: watching was followed by, &c. — causis, than the cause of it (the fear). — solitudine, to solitude. The Latin often uses the ablative to denote the penalty. — tota, i. e. entirely. — proscribebatur: the imperfect means not it was advertised, but the advertisement was kept up. — seu . . . vellet, in case any one should wish.

3. quia gives the reason of percontatus. — audita is taken with simulacra.

4. ubique, i. e. everywhere else. — stabat: the imperfect describes the appearance of the phantom.

5. capiti, over the head. — catenis: translate as accusative, rattled the chains, noticing the difference of idiom. — idem, governed by innuentem. — quod prius, i. e. innuerat. — nec, and not; as it is very often, much oftener than nor. — desertus, i. e. after he was thus abandoned. — signum, in apposition with herbas, etc., as a mark.

6. quae corpus reliquerat, i. e. which had been left by the body (its decay). — exesa, i. e. by rust. — conditis manibus, the ghost being laid. — caruit, was relieved, i. e. of the disturbance which is implied by the whole of the preceding.

SELECTION II. — 1. otiandi depends on causā. — quod cum, and when this (§ 45, 6). — Canio, dative following licere, that Canius might use them.

2. qui esset = inasmuch as he was. — apparatum, sc. est, was got ready.

3. tantumne, such a quantity: the ne only continues the question. — gravate, i. e. agebat, a kind of idiom. — quid multa, i. e. dicam: another common idiom, which should be noticed as such. — impetrat, i. e. his request. — instructos, agreeing with hortos. — nomina facit, makes out the bill (so used on account of the name in the account-book).

4. scalmum nullum, i. e. not so much as a thole-pin. — eos nullos, none of them, a regular Latin idiom. — nullae, sc. feriae. — quod, so far as (adverb accusative).

5. aliud . . . aliud, one thing . . . another.

SELECTION III. — 1. constat, is made out from (lit. holds together). — hoc . . . persuasum est, are persuaded of this. Notice the idiom, which is regular. — quam eandem, etc., the same whom they call.

SELECTION IV. — 1. ea, antecedent of quae, coming last, as usual in Latin. — serendi depends on scientia.

5. se refers to terga. — latitudines, plural (as often in Latin) because he is thinking of many cases or examples. — fissione, etc. : the early time when the ground had to be broken, and of course cattle were more necessary. — aureo, i. e. the golden age. — fabricarier : formerly the infinitive passive ended as here (an extract from an old poet) in er. — manu, connected with vinctum. — vesci, subj. of haberetur.

6. longum est : we should say in English it would take too long (see Gr. § 60, 2, c). — pro sale, instead of salt, i. e. merely to keep it from spoiling (ne putesceret). — pecude depends on fecundius.

7. Pronoea, Providence, in our modern sense ; an idea of the Stoics, one of whom is here speaking, hence nostra. — Epicurea (pred.), an Epicurean ; fem. on account of the gender of Pronoea. The idea is that Providence seems to be an Epicurean in providing so many good things for the appetite.

8. stirpibus, bushes, that have stems. — herbis, plants, grasses and the like without woody stems.

9. licet, you may, taken with lustrare. — plurimarum, etc., very many things of use (lit. the usefulness of many things).

SELECTION V. — essent, the subject is the implied antecedent of qui, men who. — quoddam, a. This word is used because the thing, though only referred to indefinitely, is however definitely known. — esse deos, that there are gods.

SELECTION VI. — 1. senile, characteristic of old men. — praedicet, from praedico, āre. — aetatem, Gr. § 52, 1. b. — quam belongs with suavitatem : the relative is often displaced in this way by a preposition connected with it. — dux ille, Agamemnon, the chief of the Trojan expedition.

2. equidem : the force of this word is concessive. The idea is, " though I cannot make the same boast that Cyrus (I wish I could), still this I can say, &c." The Latin particles have just this kind of force, and we cannot begin too soon to notice them. — quidem, again concessive (see preceding note). Translate though I have not, &c., still (sed tamen). — ego : notice that it is emphatic, — I for my part. Do not get the habit of disregarding the pronouns when expressed, because the English idiom expresses them.

SUPPLEMENT.

OUTLINE OF SYNTAX.

I. SUBJECT AND PREDICATE.

46. NOUNS. — A Noun used to describe another, and meaning the same thing, agrees with it in Case (p. 103).

1. When in the same part of the sentence (subject or predicate), it is called an appositive, and the use is called apposition.

2. When used to form a predicate, with a copulative verb, it is called predicate nominative (or other case, as it may be).

a. Agreement in gender and number; b. with locative; c. genitive in agreement with possessives.

47. ADJECTIVES agree with their nouns in gender, number, and case (p. 105).

1. With two or more nouns the adjective is plural.

2. When nouns are of different genders, an attributive adjective agrees with the nearest.

a. Of predicate adjectives; b. masculine or neuter; c. abstracts with neuter adjectives; d. agreement by synesis; e. with appositive or predicate; f. with partitive genitive.

3. Adjectives are often used as nouns, the masculines to denote men, and the feminine women (chiefly plural).

a. Possessives; b. Demonstratives; c. Nouns as adjectives.

4. A neuter adjective may be used as a noun : —

a. Use in the singular; b. in the plural; c. as appositive or predicate; d. in agreement with a clause or infinitive.

5. Adjectives denoting source or possession may be used for the genitive.

a. For genitive of personal pronouns; b. genitive in apposition; c. for objective genitive (rarely).

6. An adjective is often used to qualify an act, having the force of an Adverb.

7. When two qualities are compared, both adjectives are in the comparative, connected by quam.

a. Not with magis; b. Positives with quam.

8. Superlatives denoting order and succession often designate what part of an object is meant (so medius, ceterus, &c.).

9. Alius ... alius, &c., may be used reciprocally, or may imply a change of predicate as well as of subject.

48. RELATIVES.— A Relative agrees with its antecedent in gender and number; but its case depends on the construction of the clause in which it stands (p. 109).

1. A verb takes the person of the antecedent.

2. A relative generally agrees in gender with the appositive.

a. Agreement in case by attraction; b. with implied antecedent.

3. The antecedent noun sometimes appears in both clauses; usually only in the former; sometimes it is wholly omitted.

a. When repeated; b. a relative clause (is or hic, antecedent; R., order of clauses); c. antecedent omitted; d. predicate adjective (superlatives); e. id quod or quae res.

4. A relative often stands at the beginning of a clause or sentence, where in English a demonstrative must be used.

5. An Adverb is often equivalent to the pronoun (relative or demonstrative) with a preposition.

49. VERBS.— A verb agrees with its subject-nominative in number and person (p. 112).

1. Two or more singular subjects take a verb in the plural.

a. Rule for persons; b. with disjunctives; c. collective nouns, &c.; d. action belonging to the subjects separately.

2. The subject of a finite verb is in the nominative.

a. Omission of personal pronoun; b. of indefinite subject; c. of verb in certain phrases (especially of the copula).

II. CONSTRUCTION OF CASES.

50. GENITIVE.— A noun used to limit or define another, and not meaning the same thing, is put in the genitive (p. 113).

1. Subjective. The Genitive is used to denote the author, owner, source, and (with an adjective) measure or quality.

a. Use of possessives; b. omission of limited noun; c. genitive in predicate; d. with phrase or clause (instead of neuter nominative); so neuter of possessives; e. of substance; f. instead of appositive; g. of quality (with adjectives); h. of measure (with numerals); i. of quantity, to express value; k. with causa, &c.

2. Partitive. Words denoting a part are followed by the genitive of the whole to which the part belongs.

a. Nouns or pronouns; b. Numerals, &c.; c. Neuter adjectives; d. Adverbs; e Poetic use. — REMARK 1. Ablative with preposition; 2. uterque; 3. Words meaning a whole; 4. Doubled genitive.

3. Objective. With many nouns and adjectives implying action, the genitive is used to denote the object.

a. Nouns of action, agency, and feeling; b. Adjectives requiring an object of reference (1. desire, &c., 2. verbals, 3. participials);

c. Adjectives with genitive of specification; d. of likeness. Use of prepositions in connecting nouns.

4. After Verbs. The genitive is used as the object of several classes of Verbs:—

a. Of remembering, forgetting, and reminding; b. of accusing, condemning, and acquitting; (peculiar genitives; abl. with de); c. of emotion (1. pity, &c., 2. impersonals; use of infinitive); d. refert and interest; e. of plenty and want (potior); r. Genitive with Adverbs.

51. DATIVE. — The Dative is used of the object indirectly affected by the action of a verb (p. 121).

1. Of Indirect Object: with Transitives. Transitive verbs, whose meaning permits it, take the dative of the indirect object, with the accusative of the direct (as of giving, telling, sending).

a. With passive; b. Motion with Prepositions; d. dono, &c.

2. ——— after Intransitives. Intransitive verbs take the dative of the indirect object only.

a. Verbs meaning to favor, help, please, serve, trust, and their contraries; also to believe, persuade, command, obey, envy, threaten, resist, pardon, and spare; (1. juvo, &c., with accus.; 2. dat. or acc. with adulor, &c.; 3. dat. or acc. according to their meaning); b. libet, &c.; c. with accus. of remote; d. Compounds with ad, ante, con, &c. (transitive compounds; obvius); e. Compounds with ab, de, ex; f. Impersonal use in the passive; g. Poetic use of dative.

3. Of Possession. The Dative is used with esse and similar words to denote the Owner.

REM. — Use of habeo; a. Compounds of esse; b. nomen est.

4. Of Agency. The Dative is used after some passive forms to denote the Agent.

a. Gerund or gerundive; b. perfect participle; c. poetic use.

5. Of Service. The Dative is used to denote the purpose or end; often with another dative of the person or thing affected.

6. Of Nearness. The Dative is used after words of fitness, nearness, likeness, service, inclination, and their opposites.

a. Accusative with ad; b. Accusative with in or erga; c. possessive genitive; d. propior, &c. with acc.; e. dat. with verbals.

7. Of Reference. The Dative is often required not by any particular word, but by the general meaning of the sentence.

a. Instead of possessive genitive; b. relations of direction; c. of volens, nolens; d. Ethical Dative (ablative with pro).

52. ACCUSATIVE. — The Accusative denotes that which is immediately affected by the action of the verb.

1. The Accusative is the case of the Direct Object.

a. With verbs of feeling; b. Cognate Accusative; c. with verbs of sensation; d. of motion (compounds); e. Constructio prægnans; f. Impersonals, decet, &c.

2. Two Accusatives. Several verbs take a second accusative, either in apposition or as a secondary object.

a. Verbs of naming, choosing, &c.; b. Compounds with prepositions; c. Verbs of asking and teaching (passive use); d. celo, lateo.

3. Adverbial Accusative. The accusative is used adverbially, or for specification.

b. Accusative of neuter pronoun or adjective; b. Adverbial phrases; c. Greek accusative : passive used reflexively.

4. Special Uses : —

a. Exclamations; b. as subject of Infinitive; c. Duration of Time and extent of Space.

53. VOCATIVE. — The Vocative is the form of direct Address (p. 134).

a. Nominative with Imperative; b. Vocative of adjective.

54. ABLATIVE. — The Ablative is used to denote the relations expressed in English by the prepositions from, in, at, with, by (p. 134).

1. Separation. Verbs meaning to remove, set free, be absent, deprive, and want, are followed by the ablative.

a. Compounds, used figuratively; b. ablative of place from; c. adjectives of freedom and want; d. opus and usus; egeo and indigeo with genitive (so other words of separation and want).

2. Source. The ablative is used to denote source or material.

a. Participles of birth and origin; b. place of birth; c. of material, with constare; d. with facere, &c.

3. Cause. The ablative is used to express cause.

a. dignus, indignus, and certain verbs; b. motive expressed with ob or propter; c. causa, gratia.

4. Agent. The voluntary agent after a passive verb is put in the ablative with ab.

a. So with neuters; b. agent as instrument with per or opera.

5. Comparison. The comparative degree is followed by the ablative, signifying than.

a. Use of quam; b. idiomatic ablatives, opinione, &c.; c. construction of plus, amplius, &c.

6. Means. The ablative is used to denote accompaniment, means, instrument.

a. Accompaniment with cum (misceo, jungo); b. contention with cum; c. with words of fulness; d. utor, &c.; e. abl. of degree of difference (eo, quo, &c.).

7. Quality. The ablative is used (with an adjective or limiting genitive) to denote manner and quality.

a. Physical characteristics; b. manner with cum; modo, &c.

8. Price. The price of a thing is put in the ablative.

a. Certain genitives of quantity are used to denote indefinite value; b. so of certain nouns.

9. Specification. The ablative denotes that in respect to which any thing is or is done, or in accordance with which any thing happens.

10. Locative. The ablative of the place where is retained in many idiomatic expressions.

a. Verbs and Verbals.

b. ABLATIVE ABSOLUTE: A noun or pronoun, with a participle [forming the subject and predicate of a subordinate clause] may be put in the ablative to define the time or circumstances of an action; c. Ablative of neuter adjective; d. Ablative of place where and time when.

55. TIME AND PLACE. — 1. Time. Time when (or within which) is put in the ablative; time how long in the accusative.

a. Use of preposition; b. Ablative of duration.

2. Space. Extent of space is put in the accusative.

a. Genitive of measure; b. Distance in accusative or ablative.

3. Place. To express relations of place, prepositions are necessary, except with the names of towns and small islands.

a. The name of the place from which is in the ablative.

b. The name of the place to which is in the accusative (so certain phrases; also the former supine).

c. The name of the place where takes the locative form, which in the 1st and 2d declensions singular is the same as the genitive; in the plural and in the 3d declension, the same as the dative (or ablative).

d. domi, belli, militiæ, humi, ruri, &c.; e. possessives with domus; f. special phrases.

4. Way. The way by which is put in the ablative.

56. PREPOSITIONS. — 1. Prepositions govern the accusative or ablative (p. 146).

a. Those governing accus.; b. those governing abl.; c. in, sub (pono, statuo, &c.); d. super; e. subter; f. Dates; g. tenus.

2. Many words may be construed either as prepositions or as adverbs.

a. pridie, propius, &c., with accus.; b. palam, &c., with abl.; c. clam; d. Prepos. as adverbs (ante, &c).

3. Prepositions or adverbs implying comparison are followed by quam.

4. The ablative with a or ab is regularly used after passive verbs to denote the agent (if a person).

5. Many prepositions sometimes follow their nouns.

III. Syntax of the Verb.

57. Moods. — The Moods of a Latin verb are the Indicative, Subjunctive, Imperative, and Infinitive (p. 148).

1. Indicative. The Indicative is the mood of direct assertions or questions.

2. Subjunctive. The Subjunctive is used in special constructions, both in dependent and independent clauses.

a. Independent: hortatory, optative, concessive, dubitative; also in apodosis; b. Dependent: purpose or result, temporal clauses, indirect discourse, intermediate clauses.

3. Hortatory. The Subjunctive is used (present or perfect) to express a command or exhortation.

a. Second person of indefinite subj.; b. perfect in prohibitions; c. proviso; d. past obligation.

4. Optative. The subj. is used to denote a wish: primary tenses when conceived as possible; secondary, as unaccomplished.

a. Old use of perfect; b. ut, utinam, O si; velim, vellem.

5. Concessive: the subjunctive is used to express a concession (with or without ut, quamvis, quamlibet, &c.).

6. Dubitative: the subjunctive is used in questions implying doubt, indignation, or an impossibility of the thing being done.

7. Imperative. The Imperative is used in commands; also, by early writers and poets, in prohibitions.

a. Prohibitions (perf. subj., noli, cave, fac ne); b. use of pres. subj.; c. future imperative; d. future for imperative.

8. Infinitive. The Infinitive denotes the action of the verb as an abstract noun.

a. As subject or object (esse and impersonals); ·b. with impersonals as subj. or complement; c. Complementary Infinitive; d. used optionally; e. with subj.-accus., after words of knowing, thinking, and telling; f. Purpose; g. Exclamations; h. Historical Infinitive.

58. Tenses. — The Tenses are the Present, Imperfect, Future of incomplete action, and the Perfect, Pluperfect, and Future Perfect of completed action (p. 157).

1. The tenses of the Indicative denote absolute time.

2. Present. The Present denotes an action or state as now existing, as incomplete, or as indefinite.

a. Action continuing; b. Conative Present; c. Present for future; d. Historical Present; e. with dum; f. of extant writers.

3. Imperfect. The imperfect denotes an action or condition continued or repeated in past time.

a. Descriptions; b. action continuing; c. conative; d. surprise; e. in narrative (comic).

4. Future. The Future denotes an action or condition that will occur hereafter.

5. Perfect. The perfect definite denotes an action as now completed; the perfect historical, as having taken place indefinitely in past time.

a. As no longer existing; b. of indefinite time; c. of general truth (gnomic), especially negations; d. in negations preferred to imperfect.

6. Pluperfect. The Pluperfect is used to denote an action completed in time past; sometimes also repeated in indefinite time.

7. Future Perfect. The Future Perfect denotes an action as completed in the future.

8. Epistolary Tenses. In Letters, the perfect or imperfect may be used for the present, and the pluperfect for past tenses.

9. SUBJUNCTIVE. In Independent clauses, the Present Subjunctive always refers to future time, the Imperfect to either past or present; the Perfect to either future or past; the Pluperfect always to past.
In Dependent clauses, the tenses of the subjunctive denote relative time, not with reference to the speaker, but to the action of some other verb.

10. Sequence of Tenses. In compound sentences, a primary tense in the leading clause is followed by a primary tense in the dependent clause ; and a secondary tense is followed by a secondary (p. 162).

a. Perfect definite; b. Perfect subjunctive; c. Perfect in clauses of result (compared with imperf.); d. general truths; e. historical present; f. Protasis and Apodosis; g. imperfect subjunctive in leading clauses; h. secondary tenses by synesis.

11. INFINITIVE. The tenses of the Infinitive are present, past, or future relatively to the time of the verb on which they depend.

a. Present, following verb in past tense; b. Perfect (memini); c. Present, without reference to time ; d. Perf. with verbs of wishing, &c.; e. Perf. with verbs of feeling (poetic) ; f. Future (fore ut).

59. CONDITIONAL SENTENCES. — A conditional sentence (or clause) is one beginning with IF or some equivalent.

1. Protasis and Apodosis. The clause containing the condition (IF) is called the Protasis; that containing the conclusion is called the Apodosis.

a. Protasis : IF or indef. relative ; b. Apodosis the main clause.

2. Particular and General Conditions : —
a. A particular supposition refers to a definite act (or series of acts) occurring at some definite time.
b. A general supposition refers to any one of a class of acts which may occur (or may have occurred) at any time.
c. Classification of conditional sentences (p. 167).

3. Present and Past Conditions.—

a. In the statement of a condition whose falsity is not implied, the tenses of the Indicative are used.

b. In the statement of a supposition known to be false, the imperfect and pluperfect subjunctive are used.

c. Imperf. subj. referring to past; d. Indic. in apodosis; e. expressions of necessity, duty, &c.; f. Fut. part. with fui = plup. subj.

4. Future Conditions:—

a. Use of future indic.; b. of present subj.; c. of future perf. d. Form of Apodosis; e. Perfect indic. in apodosis; f. Imperf. (or pluperf.) subj. by sequence of tenses.

5. General Conditions:—

a. Indefinite subject (2d person singular); b. repeated action (imperfect subj. and indic.); c. in other cases, indicative.

60. IMPLIED CONDITIONS. — In many sentences, the condition is stated in some other form than a conditional clause, or is implied in the nature of the thought (p. 172).

1. Condition Disguised:—

a. In a relative or participial clause; b. in a wish or command; c. in an independent clause.

2. Condition Omitted:—

a. Potential Subjunctive; b. Subjunctive of modesty; c. Indicative of necessity, duty, &c.; d. mixed constructions.

61. CONDITIONAL PARTICLES. Certain particles implying a condition are followed by the subjunctive (p. 174).

1. Comparative:—tamquam, &c. (with pres. or perf. subj.).

2. Concessive:—quamvis, ut, licet, etsi.

3. Proviso:—modo, dum, dummodo.

4. Use of the Conditional Particles:—

a. si, nisi; b. nisi vero (objection); c. sive (alternative); d. concessive particles.

62. RELATIONS OF TIME. Temporal clauses are introduced by particles which are almost all of relative origin; and are usually construed like other relative clauses (p. 176).

1. Temporal particles are used as indefinite relatives.

2. Temporal clauses of absolute time take the Indicative; those of relative time, the Subjunctive.

a. postquam, ut, ubi; b. cum temporal; c. antequam, priusquam; *d. dum, donec, quoad; e. cum causal; f. cum … tum.

63. CAUSE OR REASON. Causal Clauses may take the Indicative or Subjunctive according to their construction (p. 181):—

1. Indicative in direct construction;

2. Subjunctive of indirect discourse.

a. Relative clause of characteristic; b. cum causal.

64. PURPOSE. — 1. Final clauses take the Subjunctive after relatives, or the conjunction ut, -ne (p. 182).

a. Use of quo; b. Suppression of principal clause.

2. Purpose is expressed in various ways; but never (except rarely in poetry) by the simple Infinitive (p. 183).

65. CONSEQUENCE OR RESULT. — 1. Consecutive Clauses take the Subjunctive after relatives or the conj. ut, ut non (p. 183).

a. quominus; b. quin (substantive clause).

2. A relative clause of Result is often used to indicate a characteristic of the antecedent.

a. General expressions of existence, &c.; b. unus and solus; c. Comparatives with quam; d. restriction or proviso; e. cause or hinderance; f. dignus, aptus, idoneus,

66. INTERMEDIATE CLAUSES. A subordinate clause takes the Subjunctive when it expresses the thought of some other person than the speaker or writer; or when it is an integral part of a subjunctive clause or an equivalent infinitive (p. 185).

1. The Subjunctive is used in intermediate clauses to express the thought of some other person.

a. Indirect discourse; b. depending on implied wish, command, &c.; c. main clause merged in a verb of saying; d. reason with quod (non quod, non quin).

2. A clause depending on another subjunctive clause (or equivalent infinitive) will also take the subjunctive if regarded as an integral part of that clause.

67. INDIRECT DISCOURSE. — A Direct Quotation is one which gives the exact words of the original speaker or writer. An Indirect Quotation is one which adapts the original words to the structure of the sentence in which they are quoted.

1. Indirect Narrative. In a declaratory sentence in indirect discourse, the principal verb is in the Infinitive, and its subject in the Accusative. All subordinate clauses take the Subjunctive.

a. Subject-accusative; b. Relative clauses; c. Conditional Sentences; d. Questions: indirect or rhetorical.

2. Indirect Questions. An indirect question takes its verb in the Subjunctive.

a. Future participle; b. Dubitative Subjunctive; c. Accusative of anticipation; d. Early use of indicative; e. Indefinites (nescio quis); f. clauses with si (whether).

3. Indirect Commands. All imperative forms of speech take the Subjunctive in indirect discourse.

68. WISHES AND COMMANDS. — 1. Wishes are expressed by the Subjunctive: the primary tenses in reference to future time, the secondary to express a hopeless wish (p. 192).

2. Commands are expressed by the Imperative or Subjunctive; Prohibitions by the subjunctive or a periphrasis with noli, cave. The Object of a command is given in a purpose-clause.

3. Indirectly quoted, all these forms take the Subjunctive.

69. RELATIVE CLAUSES. — 1. A simple relative, merely introducing a descriptive fact, takes the Indicative.

2. In relative clauses with the Subjunctive, the relative is either in protasis, or expresses some logical connection, or has no effect on the construction (as in indirect discourse).

70. SUBSTANTIVE CLAUSES. — A Substantive Clause is one which is the subject or object of a verb, or in apposition with a subject or object (p. 193).

1. Classification : 1. Infinitive Clauses; 2. Indirect Questions; 3. Clauses of purpose or result (ut); 4. Indicative of fact (quod).

2. The Infinitive (with accusative) is used as the Subject chiefly of esse and impersonal verbs; as the Object, 1. of verbs and expressions of knowing, thinking, and telling; 2. jubeo, veto, &c.; 3. of verbs of wishing.

a. After passives; b. poetic extension; c. verb of saying implied; d. verbs of promising, &c.

3. Clauses of Purpose are used as the object of all verbs denoting an action directed towards the future.

a. Verbs of commanding, &c.; b. of wishing, &c.; c. of permission, &c.; d. of determining, &c. (decreeing, with part. in dus); e. of caution and effort; f. of fearing (ne, ut); g. poetic use of infinitive.

4. Clauses of Result are used as the object of verbs denoting the accomplishment of an effort.

a. Verbs of happening, &c.; b. following quam; c. in exclamations (elliptically); d. tantum abest; e. facere ut; f. instead of accus. and infin.; g. hindering (quin; non dubito); h. Use optional.

5. The Indicative with quod is used (more commonly as subject) when the statement is regarded as a fact.

a. As accus. of specification; b. with verbs of feeling (miror si).

71. QUESTIONS. — Questions are introduced by interrogative pronouns, adverbs, or particles, and are not distinguished by the order of words (p. 200).

1. Interrogative Particles : —

a. num •in indirect questions; b. form of indirect questions; c. enclitic -ne; d. nescio an, &c.

2. Double Questions (utrum . . . an): —

a. Omission of former particle; b. of first member; c. of second member; d. forms of alternative.

3. Question and Answer. In answering a question, the verb is generally repeated.

72. PARTICIPLES. — The Participle expresses the action or the verb in the form of an adjective (p. 202).

1. Distinctions of Tense : —

a. Present ; b. Perfect (deponent) ; c. Pres. passive (dum, -dus).

2. Adjective Use, attributive : —

a. As nouns ; b. as predicate with esse ; c. periphrastic perfect ; d. two forms of perfect passive.

3. Predicate Use. The present and perfect participles are often used to express time, cause, occasion, condition, concession, characteristic, manner, circumstance (especially in the Ablative Absolute).

a. Passive part. containing the main idea ; b. Perfect part. with habeo ; c. with volo ; Present part. for infin. (with facio, &c.).

4. Future Participle : —

a. Periphrastic conjugation ; b. with fui, &c., for pluperf. subj.

5. Gerundive (denoting necessity and propriety) : —

a. in simple agreement ; b. periphrastic conjugation (impersonal use) ; c. with verbs of undertaking, demanding, &c.

73. GERUND AND GERUNDIVE. — 1. The Gerund, in grammatical construction, follows the same rules as nouns (p. 206).

2. Gerundive. When the Gerund would have an object in the accusative, the Gerundive is generally used instead, agreeing with the noun, in the case which the gerund would have had.

3. Construction. The Gerund and Gerundive are used in the oblique cases in the constructions of nouns : —

a. The Genitive is used as objective genitive after nouns or adjectives, as a predicate with esse, or as a genitive of quality.
b. The Dative is used after the adjectives (rarely nouns) which are followed by the dative of nouns ; sometimes also after verbs.
c. The Accusative is used after several prepositions ; most frequently after ad denoting purpose.
d. The Ablative is used to express means, instrument, or manner, after comparatives, and after several prepositions.
e. The Gerund is occasionally found in apposition with a noun.

74. Supine. — 1. The Former Supine is used after verbs of motion, to express the purpose of the motion (p. 209).

2. The Latter Supine is used only after a few adjectives and nouns, to denote that in respect to which the quality is asserted.

GREEK.

GOODWIN'S GREEK GRAMMAR. By WILLIAM W.
GOODWIN, Ph. D., Eliot Professor of Greek Literature in Harvard University.
Half morocco $1.25 $1.56

The object of this Grammar is to state general principles clearly and distinctly, with special regard to those who are preparing for college. In the sections on the Moods are stated, for the first time in an elementary form, the principles which are elaborated in detail in the author's " Syntax of the Greek Moods and Tenses."

GREEK MOODS AND TENSES. The Fourth Edition.
By WILLIAM W. GOODWIN, Eliot Professor of Greek Literature in Harvard University. 1 vol. 12mo. Cloth. pp. 264 . . . . . . 1.40   1.75

This work was first published in 1860, and it appeared in a new form — much enlarged and in great part rewritten — in 1865. In the present edition the whole has been again revised ; some sections and notes have been rewritten, and a few notes have been added. The object of the work is to give a plain statement of the principles which govern the construction of the Greek Moods and Tenses, — the most important and the most difficult part of Greek Syntax.

GOODWIN'S GREEK READER. Consisting of Extracts from Xenophon, Plato, Herodotus, and Thucydides ; being a full equivalent for the seven books of the Anabasis, now required for admission at Harvard. With Maps, Notes, References to GOODWIN'S GREEK GRAMMAR, and parallel References to CROSBY'S and HADLEY'S GRAMMARS. Edited by PROFESSOR W. W. GOODWIN, of Harvard College, and J. H. ALLEN, Cambridge. Half morocco 1.60   2.00

This book contains the third and fourth books of the Anabasis (entire), the greater part of the second book of the Hellenica, and the first chapter of the Memorabilia, of Xenophon ; the last part of the Apology, and the beginning and end of the Phaedo, of Plato ; selections from the sixth, seventh, and eighth books of Herodotus, and from the fourth book of Thucydides.

LEIGHTON'S GREEK LESSONS. Prepared to accompany Goodwin's Greek Grammar. By R. F. LEIGHTON, Master of Melrose High School.
Half morocco 1.25   1.56

This work contains about one hundred lessons, with a progressive series of exercises (both Greek and English), mainly selected from the first book of Xenophon's Anabasis. The exercises on the Moods are sufficient, it is believed, to develop the general principles as stated in the Grammar. The text of four chapters of the Anabasis is given entire, with notes and references. Full vocabularies accompany the book.

These lessons, with the additional exercises to be translated into Greek, are believed to be a sufficient preparation in Greek Composition for admission to any American College.

We have made arrangements with Messrs. Macmillan & Co. to publish in this country their new edition of Liddell & Scott's Greek Lexicons, and are ready to supply the trade.

The English editions of Liddell & Scott are not stereotyped ; but each has been thoroughly revised, enlarged, and printed anew. The sixth edition, just published, is larger by one eighth than the fifth, and contains 1865 pages. It is an entirely different work from the first edition, the whole department of etymology having been rewritten in the light of modern investigations, and the forms of the irregular verbs being given in greater detail by the aid of Veitch's Catalogue. No student of Greek can afford to dispense with this invaluable Lexicon, the price of which is now for the first time brought within the means of the great body of American scholars.

vised Edition. Square 12mo. pp. 1058. Sheep 3.60 4.50

"The present work aims at furnishing in both its parts a sufficiently extensive vocabulary for all practical purposes. The Latin words and phrases are in all cases followed by the name of some standard Latin writer, as a guaranty of their authority ; and as the work is of a strictly elementary character, the conjugations of the verbs and the genders and genitive cases of the substantives are uniformly added.
In the preparation of this portion of the book, DR. WHITE has had the assistance of some of the best scholars both of Oxford and Cambridge." — Guardian.

THE ŒDIPUS TYRANNUS OF SOPHOCLES. Edited, with an Introduction, Notes, and full explanation of the metres, by JOHN W. WHITE, A. M., Professor of the Greek language and literature in Baldwin University.

The text will depart as little as possible from MS authority. The Notes, with grammatical references to Goodwin and Hadley, will aim at giving the student all the help necessary to a clear understanding of the text.

The metres will be explained on the recently advanced theory of DR J HEINRICH SCHMIDT, of Berlin. To this end a considerably abridged translation of his "Leitfaden in der Rhythmik und Metrik" will be added to the Notes.

OUTLINES OF ASTRONOMY. By ARTHUR SEARLE, Assistant at Harvard College Observatory.

This work is intended to give such elementary instruction in the principal branches of Astronomy as is required in High Schools or by any students not far advanced in mathematics. It will be illustrated by engravings carefully prepared with a view to accuracy, and will contain some information on each of the following subjects : —

1. The chief results of astronomical inquiry up to the present time with regard to the general constitution of the universe, and, in particular, with regard to the stars, planets, nebulæ, comets, and meteors.

2. The methods of astronomical research, and their application to the arts.
3. The general principles of theoretical astronomy.
4. The history of astronomy.
5. Astronomical statistics.

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE STUDY OF THE

RHYTHM AND METRE OF THE CLASSICAL LANGUAGES, on the Theory of Dr. J. H. Heinrich Schmidt, of Berlin. To which will be added the Text of the Lyrical Parts of some of the more generally read of the Greek Dramas, with Rhythmical Schemes, and a Commentary. Edited by JOHN W. WHITE, A. M , Professor of the Greek Language and Literature in Baldwin University.

This work has been undertaken at the solicitation of certain eminent educators who have advised the editor to expand the Appendix on Rhythm and Metre which had been prepared for his forthcoming edition of the ŒDIPUS TYRANNUS OF SOPHOCLES into the volume now announced. The aim will be to present a clear and succinct dogmatic statement of the theory of Dr. Schmidt for the use of classes in the Greek and Latin poets. To be ready some time within the college year 1874 – 75.

ALLEN & GREENOUGH'S SELECT ORATIONS OF CICERO. Chronologically Arranged; covering the entire period of his Public Life. Edited by J. H. & W. F. ALLEN, and J. B. GREENOUGH, with References to Allen & Greenough's Latin Grammar. Containing the Defence of Roscius (abridged), Verres I., Manilian Law, Catiline, Archias, Sextius (abridged), Milo, Marcellus, Ligarius, and the Fourteenth Philippic. With Life, Introductions, Notes, and Index $1 40 $1.75

This selection differs from other school editions of Cicero, in aiming to give a complete view of his career as an orator and a statesman. The Introduction contains a brief outline of his life, accompanied by a chronological table of events, and a full list of his extant orations, with their topics, occasions etc. The historical introductions to the special orations accompany the text, while the argument is given, so far as possible, in head-lines on the page, so as to afford the learner every help to the eye for easy comprehension. The text follows the most approved revision, that of Baiter and Kayser. The Notes are designed to give all the aid which will be of service to teacher or pupil, for an understanding of the language, style, and structure of the orations, and — besides full historical exposition of the text — are accompanied by numerous illustrations (in smaller type) of special points of history or antiquities; a full Index being given at the end. It is intended that, so far as possible within its limits, this volume shall supply all that the general student would seek in a complete and critical edition of the Orations.

ALLEN & GREENOUGH'S SHORTER COURSE OF LATIN PROSE: Consisting of Selections from Cæsar, Curtius, Nepos, and Sallust (Jugurtha), with Notes adapted to Allen & Greenough's Grammar; accompanied by Six Orations of Cicero, — the Manilian, the four Catilines, and
